

Find Satan Signs
In Busnapping Case

CHOWCHILLA, Calif. (UPI) — The Fresno, Calif., Bee said Monday it was informed by investigators documents were found on the 100-acre estate of the family of one of the suspects in the Chowchilla kidnap case, Fred Woods, 24, and contained "strange references to Satan." Others were coded in Sanskrit.

One of the documents was a $5 million, unsent ransom note signed "Beelsabub," it was reported. "Beelsabub" was an apparent misspelling of Beelzebub, a New Testament name meaning "prince of the devils."

BIZARRE—Frederick Newhall Woods IV, one of the three suspects in custody in the mass kidnapping of 26 children and their school bus driver, was turned over to Alameda County, Calif., officials. Documents found by investigators in the case contain bizarre references to Satan and an unsent $5 million ransom note.

Fear More Victims
Of Colorado Flood

LOVELAND, Colo. (UPI) — At least 76 people died in a weekend flash flood that roared through the Big Thompson Canyon in the Rocky Mountains. Authorities said they were certain ground crews would find more bodies today.

Two brothers, Stan, 22, and Mike Urvan, 21, of San Francisco were among the last of an estimated 1,000 survivors to be rescued by helicopter crews. They said they saw "several bodies and horses half-buried in the debris and large sections of the highway that disappeared."

Chinese Continue
To Shun Buildings

HONG KONG (UPI) — Hundreds of thousands of temporarily homeless Chinese spent their sixth night outdoors in tents and makeshift shelters in a light to moderate rain Monday. Authorities will not permit them to return to their damaged homes because of the danger of a new quake or powerful aftershocks, which could cause them to collapse.

In the face of that threat large numbers of foreign diplomats, their dependents and other foreign residents continued to leave the capital. The last three dependents of American diplomats left for Tokyo aboard a morning flight, UPI was told.

Viking Probers Try To Disprove Life

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Data from two of three biology tests by Viking 1 on Mars gave results scientists said could have two sources: Some form of life, or a chemical reaction not common to Earth. Today a special team is working to see if the results can be explained by phenomena other than a form of life.

Other possibilities must be considered before scientists will be "driven" to accept the conclusion the reactions come from life forms, said Dr. Gilbert Levin, a member of the biology team.

County Is Spending Itself into Red

By CHAZY DOWALIBY
Freeman staff

KINGSTON — Despite four months on an austerity budget the county spent over 50 per cent of its budget during the first half of the year and two of its largest departments expect to be in the red by December.

A six-month interim report on spending indicates that $39.6 million of a total $57.6 million—some 54.5 per cent—has already been spent.

At that rate the county will be $2.4 million in the hole by the end of the year.

Budget planners already have to make up an unexpected $1.7 million deficit from 1975 and this year they counted on a surplus of $4 million revenues which turned out to be only $2.9 million.

Welfare Commissioner Bernhardt S. Kramer and Deputy Highway Department Superintendent Richard Gray both said Monday their departments will run out of money before the end of the year — Kramer estimating $1 million to $1.5 million short, Gray unable to estimate at this time.

The welfare budget is over $24 million. The highway department currently runs $4.8 million.

Peter J. Savago, chairman of the legislature and the finance committee said that the county's economic problems for the second part of the year are "hard to estimate at this time."

"We've tried to hold the lid on spending by keeping down personnel positions, but some services are just necessary."

Savago also pointed to surrounding counties as being in worse shape financially than Ulster.

He said that the Finance Committee will be closely reviewing the report and making recommendations to various departments on how to cut back even more over the next six months.

Legislative Minority Leader Louis Klein saw the interim report as justification for his charges that the legislature as a whole is not practicing what it's preaching about austerity.

"It's scary to think where we'd be if we hadn't started an austerity budget in March...it seems to be a complete unwillingness on the part of certain legislators to accept the fact that we are in a crisis situation."

Klein estimates that the county will need at least $8 million more tax revenue to meet its 1977 bills if a similar budget is passed next year.

"What this means is close to 60 per cent increase in property taxes," he said.

If Klein's estimates are true it would mean that Ulster County residents will have had their property taxes raised some 92 per cent between 1975 and 1977.

Despite Klein's claims that the legislature has held very loose reins over departmental spending both Kramer and Gray expressed opinions to the opposite.

"It certainly hasn't been easy in my department," said Kramer. I would say they're sticking by their guns. Not only haven't I been able hire new people, I can't even fill some of the vacancies in positions that I need to operate programs."

Gray also cited personnel cutbacks and further commented that he has been dipping heavily into existing supply inventories which will probably be depleted by next year.

"There are needs and demands in the county that have to be met. We're going to need replacements for supplies next year and the county will be back where it started."

The legislature is scheduled to meet again on Aug. 12 and although the agenda has not yet been released legislators agree that some resolutions on the interim budget report will come out of the finance committee for floor consideration.

—Vandals Strike—

Four ginkgo trees along Fair Street, broken by vandals over the weekend, have been taped and tarred by Kingston public works employees in hopes there may be a chance to save the trees. The ginkgo, a Chinese hardwood once cultivated for religious purposes, is favored for city settings because of its resistance to auto pollution.

MARKET BASKET

City Food Up 1.8% in July

KINGSTON — The cost of feeding a family of four in Kingston last week rose .5 per cent to $67.05, according to figures released today by the Ulster County Consumer Information Service of the District Attorney's Office.

The average cost of the same 41-item market basket of food typically purchased by a moderate income family in Ulster County was $68.16 for the week ending July 31, up 1.4 per cent from the previous week.

During the month of July in Kingston, the price of the market basket rose 1.8 per cent, representing a yearly rate of food price inflation of 23.9 per cent.

About the only consolation for Kingston shoppers was that they paid less for food last week than consumers in other parts of the county. The regional market basket prices were: $67.66 in Rosendale-New Paltz-Port Ewen; $67.76 in Ellenville-Warwarsing; $68.65 in Woodstock-Saugerties; and $69.69 in Lloyd-Marlboro, 3.9 per cent above Kingston's figure.

Pacing the increase was the 8 per cent gain in prices in the fresh fruits and vegetables category. Onions (up 30 per cent), heads of lettuce (up 13 per cent), and apples (up 8 per cent) were the big gainers here; the only decrease in this category was posted by white potatoes, down 9 per cent from last week.

The only category showing an overall decline in prices was grain products, down 4 per cent.

Market basket information is based on a survey of three Kingston supermarkets and 13 others across the county.

All Attended Pa. Legion Convention

Unknown Illness Kills 16

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — At least 16 persons, who attended a Pennsylvania American Legion Convention in Philadelphia two weeks ago, have been killed by a painful and mysterious virus that has state health officials baffled.

The disease, which hospitalized at least 35 other Pennsylvanians, resembles pneumonia and is believed caused by a virus, state Health Department officials said.

State Health Secretary Dr. Leonard Bachman Monday ordered a statewide investigation to identify the disease and determine if it is contagious.

"We can see no cause for any panic of any sort at this time," Bachman said. "We don't know what we're dealing with. It certainly resembles a virus rather than any other cause."

Although Bachman admitted "swine flu is a possibility," he said it was too early to speculate.

The National Center for Disease Control in Atlanta sent three epidemiologists — doctors trained in tracking down the causes of contagious diseases and the manner in which they are transmitted — to Pennsylvania.

Tissue and blood samples from the victims were flown to Philadelphia for analysis. Bachman said it would take three days to identify the virus.

Health Department officials have been calling hospitals across the state for autopsy results and information on new admissions.

State field investigators also contacted families of the victims to determine if the disease had spread. Bachman said preliminary calls indicated it had not.

Edward T. Hoak, Pennsylvania American Legion adjutant, said he began receiving reports of deaths during the week-end from various Legion district offices.

"The one thing they all had in common was that they went to the convention in Philadelphia," Hoak said.

The 10,000 persons, who attended the convention, included 2,000 delegates, plus alternates and wives and children. Hoak said they stayed in six different Philadelphia hotels.

Hoak said the illness started with symptoms similar to a common cold, then progressed to severe headaches and high temperatures. He said a number of victims were packed in ice and given oxygen in a futile attempt to revive them.

Elmer Hafer of Lewisburg became ill a week ago. He died Sunday night.

"He started complaining about a week ago about chills and a fever. We took him to the hospital last Wednesday night and he died last night. They said it was viral pneumonia. No one knows why. No one knows why," Mrs. Hafer said.

The symptoms were the same for two other victims from Williamstown, John Doland and John B. Ralph.

"They had a horrible death," said Mrs. Mercy Yerski, Ralph's aunt.

"I think John's temperature reached 107 at one point. The doctors performed a postmortem. I can only say that from the autopsy report given, it was that their lungs looked like Brillo pads. There seemed to be a shield formed over them that the antibiotics would not penetrate."

College Turns in Surplus

Dutchess Community College is in such good financial shape that the board of trustees has given back some money to Dutchess Legislature and will not have to raise its tuition rates as much as had been expected.

Ulster County Community College announced tuition hikes of $50 a year beginning this fall, citing as one reason less state aid per pupil.

Dutchess says it will return some $163,000 appropriated earlier this year by the legislature and that full time New York State students will only be charged $675 per year and part-time tuition will be set at $23 per semester hour.

Last year that college charged in-state students $650 per year and $22 per semester hour.

UCC President Robert T. Brown said today the state aid coming into Ulster was exactly what had been expected to balance the college's budget.

"This is the aid we were supposed to get originally, it represents no increase in state aid."

Brown also said UCC had no money to give back to the local legislature because no extra money had been provided this year.

"This county is in a financial crisis which perhaps isn't being faced over in Dutchess," said Brown.

UCC's board of trustees announced a two year plan for tuition increases last April which would raise current rate of $650 per year to $700 in 1976-77 and to $750 for the 1977-78 academic year.

Part-time students also face a $2 per semester hour hike — from $23 to $25 this fall and from $25 to $27 in 1977.

Brown also speculated that perhaps the Dutchess College was drawing on surplus funds to supplement its budget.

No such surplus exists in Ulster.

UCC's $5 million budget goes up for a vote tonight before the board of trustees.

A public hearing on the proposed spending will be held by the Community College Committee Aug. 12 at 3 p.m. in the county legislative chambers.

Arterial Petitions Up Tonight

KINGSTON — The Kingston north-south arterial issue is expected to make an unscheduled appearance before the Kingston Common Council tonight when at least three groups will petition for a review of the controversial highway project.

Expected to speak against the $35 million bypass plan are Terrance A. Taylor, a local Conservative Party official, and Clyde D. Reayea, a member of Citizens Concerned with the Total Impact of the Kingston North-South Arterial (CCTI), which has gathered some 1,000 signatures asking the project be abandoned.

Also expected to have spokesmen in the audience is the We've Had It Taxpayers Association, possibly joined by another taxpayers group, the Irate Consumers of Ulster County.

No objection to the unscheduled speakers is foreseen from the council leadership, although both Majority Leader Peter J. Mancuso, D-12th Ward, and Minority Leader Titus B. Sims, R-13th Ward, said they are reserving judgment until all the facts are heard.

The last public hearing on the plan, which will put a four-lane highway through Kingston's downtown east side without any new roadway on either end, was held in 1967.

Some 97 properties, including 60 homes, will be removed from the tax rolls.

"I think it's very much in order for the council to have a public hearing on this project. A lot of things have transpired since 1967," Mancuso said. "If these groups are just in their cause, I'm very much in favor of helping them. But I'm sure the mayor has something to say, and I'm waiting to hear from him, too."

Mayor Francis R. Koenig, a chief supporter of the arterial, isn't expected at the council session because of a fire commission meeting previously scheduled.

Sims said he has "absolutely no objection" to waiving council rules to hear the speakers.

"We've never refused anyone yet," Sims said.

On the regular agenda tonight are:

- A 7 p.m. public hearing on the sale of a 7,400-square-foot urban renewal parcel on North Front Street to businessman Frank H. Reis for $30,000.

- A request for a $4,766 station wagon for the fire department.

- A report that 31 Manpower jobs can be carried beyond their expiration date this month through another federal title program.

- A request from City Laboratory Director Dr. Herbert Derman to exempt certain specialized laboratory jobs from the local law requiring city employees to be residents.

- The mayor's announcement that Vincent C. Pehling has been named to the zoning board of appeals as a replacement for Kenneth E. Hyatt until Dec. 31.

1.8 Million Lottery Tickets Win Refunds

ALBANY (UPI) — Refunds will be made on 1.8 million tickets sold for three lotteries suspended last fall and a special game will be held later this year to award $1.4 million remaining in jackpot funds, according to Lottery Director John Quinn.

Games for which refunds will be given include the Oct. 30 and Nov. 6 weekly games and the Oct. 31 Colossus drawing — the final three games among nine suspended last fall. Drawings have been conducted for the other games in the last few weeks.

The lottery was suspended by the governor nine months ago in the midst of a scandal when it was discovered that several duplicate and triplicate tickets for the Colossus game had been printed and distributed.

Cash refunds may be obtained from any of the 600 lottery outlets throughout the state which are identified by large posters announcing that the store is participating in the program.

The $1.4 million in jackpot funds had accumulated from previous Colossus games and were to form the prize pool for the Oct. 31 drawing. The money will be awarded to the public in a special game which has not yet been scheduled, Quinn said Monday.

The decision to refund the Colossus game rather than go ahead with the drawing was made because "a manual check of the records available does not provide a sufficiently accurate base of information to conduct a drawing," Quinn said.

A computer program error produced several duplicate and triplicate tickets among the 1.7 million sold.

Famed Director Succumbs

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Movie director Fritz Lang, the monocled Austrian perfectionist who created film classics in Berlin, Paris and Hollywood such as "Clash By Night," "Metropolis" and "M," died Monday.

Lang, 85, a former painter and architect, was known for the visual composition of his scenes and his sure touch with suspense.

His most famous film — and his own personal favorite — was "M," a study of a psychopathic child molester and murderer that made an international star of Peter Lorre in the mid-1920s.

His Hollywood films included "Fury," "You Only Live Once," "Western Union," "Scarlet Street" and "Clash by Night."

Lang died at his home after years of poor health. He was forced to give up directing 15 years ago because of failing eyesight, but continued to be active as a university lecturer.

In 1961 his last movie, "The 1,000 Eyes of Dr. Mabuse," resurrected a character from two films he made in Germany in the 1920s and '30s. The second, "The Last Will and Testament of Dr. Mabuse," provoked his hurried departure to escape the Nazis.

Disturbed by the rise of Hitler, he ended the second film with Dr. Mabuse, a master criminal, raving Nazi philosophy as he lay dying in an insane asylum.

Lang said, "I left Berlin that night for Paris."

CENTER OPENS

KINGSTON — The Adult Learning Center, offering pre-vocational training to all Ulster County residents, has opened its doors at 472 Broadway in Kingston.

Federally funded and supervised by the New York State Education Department, the center provides training for the high school equivalency examination, English as a second language, and basic adult literacy.

The center, a project of the Office for Continuing Education at Ulster County Community College, now operates Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursday from 1 to 9 p.m.

Additional staff and hours will be added according to need, spokesmen said.

Current staff members are Daniel and Deborah Zimmerman, Julia Callahan and Jack Carbone. Mrs. Callahan and the Zimmermans have had extensive training and experience in teaching English as a second language. Mrs. Callahan is teaching in an Ellenville outreach program of the center.

Carbone and the Zimmermans recently completed an intensive study program in adult learning center techniques and administration.

Nearly all the center's programs are designed for individual rather than class participation. Interested persons are invited to stop in.

Seniors' Center Barely Passes

SAUGERTIES — Support for the location of a new senior citizens' center in Saugerties is only half-hearted among village board members who resorted to a tie-breaking mayoral vote at Monday night's meeting to to send the town's application for federal aid on its way.

A last minute request from Town Supervisor Frank Greco and Robert C. Randall, Ulster County Intergovernmental Coordinator, was received asking for village statement of support for the project.

A hurried telephone conference polling each board member found only three in favor of the project as it now stands, one who abstained for lack of knowledge, and two negative votes. Mayor James Gage voted "yes" to send the application on to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Trustee Robert J. Lehmann said he was not opposed to the center, but to the proposed location adjacent to Cantine Memorial Field. "It would be the worst possible place I could imagine for old people," he said of the site.

The village stands to benefit indirectly through a clause in the HUD grant that specifies a housing assistance plan be included for those residences that would benefit from extensive structural overhaul through government loans.

Trustee John Carnright, who also opposed the village's moral support of the project, said he had talked to officials in Poughkeepsie who told him it took 40 working days just to prepare an application for housing assistance and up to two years before they even heard from the government about it.

The resolution passed four to two, with Trustee George Turner abstaining.

An update report on the Barclay Heights Sewer Improvement Project given by village attorney William Brinnier said all project work has been halted indefinitely until new engineering plans could be devised by Halmar Construction Co. as safety precautions.

He said work is shut down until the new specifications meet with town and state requirements, adding that damage incurred by village water lines must be repaired.

"If we're going to get anything from Halmar in the future we will have to sue the town, and their insurance will take care of it. We are in a safeguarded position," said Brinnier.

Trustee Erika Hinchey said that a "possible trailer park" with 31 proposed units near the village's Blue Mountain Reservoir outside the village's corporate limits could pose a hazard to the drinking supply, as it was thought to be in the reservoir water shed. She said the state Department of Environmental Conservation will be asked for help in determining whether a threat does exist.

Board members passed a resolution allowing television surveillance of about 4,000 feet of sewer line to be undertaken by the New England Pipe Cleaning Co. The main runs down Washington Avenue, with portions to Finger and Main streets where breaks and stoppages have occurred frequently. Work on the 24-inch main should take two or three days and cost between $1,000 and $2,000, according to Turner's estimate.

A group of 16 people submitted a petition to the board asking for maintenance of Center Street. Brinnier said his research had failed to turn up any evidence the street is owned by the town, although it appears on the original map of the village in the 1850s and has been maintained by the village street department in recent years.

Gage promised it would be kept in good enough condition so emergency vehicles can pass through.

Downing Calls For New Kennedy Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Thomas N. Downing, D-Va., believes new documents on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy justify a renewed investigation of his death.

At a news conference Monday, Downing released a 79-page packet entitled "Motivation Behind the Assassination of John F. Kennedy" compiled by Robert D. Morrow, author of a book on the unsuccessful Bay of Pigs invasion.

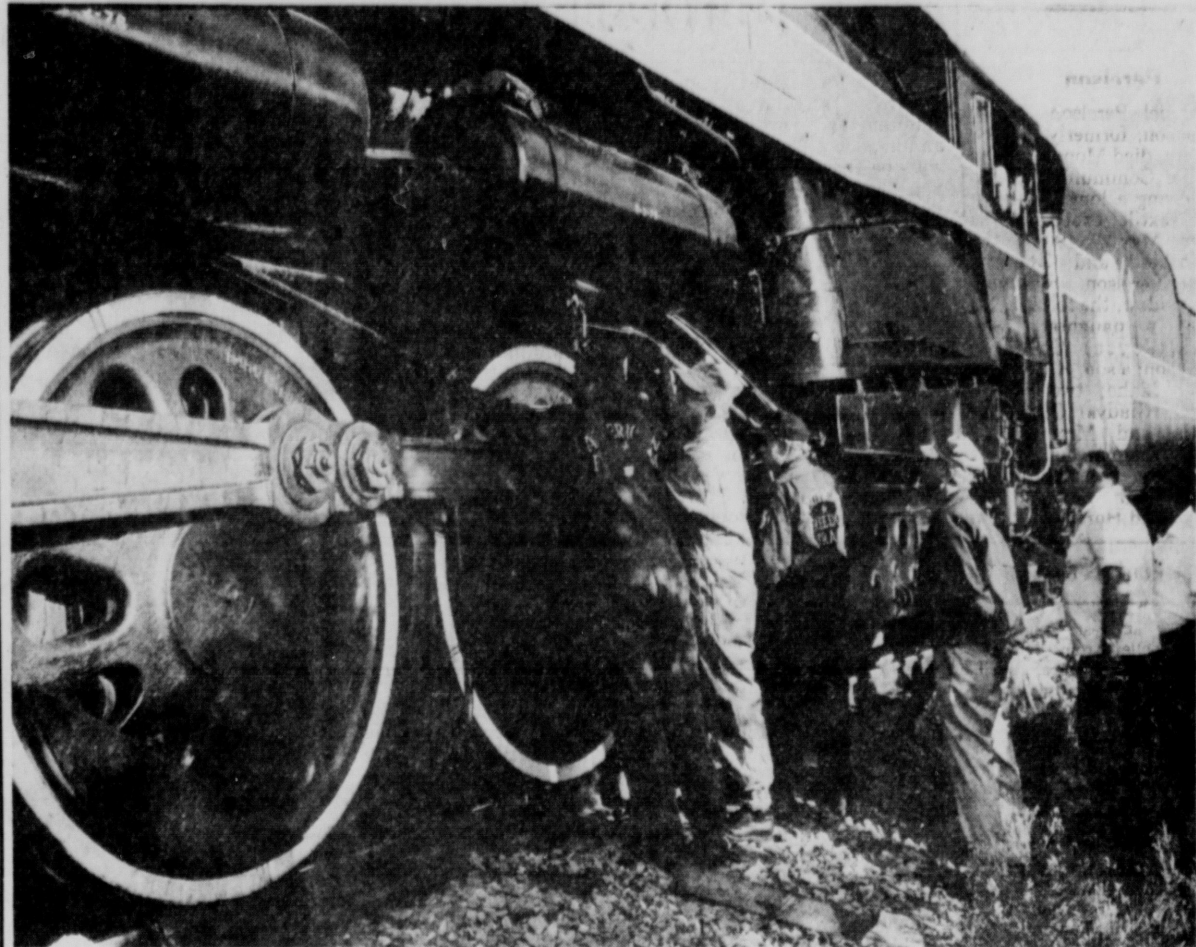

Morrow, who said he was a former CIA contract agent, alleges that then-vice president Richard M. Nixon told Mario Garcia Kohly Sr., a popular right-wing leader of Cuban exiles, that he could eliminate left wing antiCastro exiles after the Bay of Pigs invasion.

Downing said he received the material from Morrow last week and could not vouch for its authenticity.

But he said the material "does raise a number of questions which I believe need to be answered. I would like to know what was behind the intense interest shown by President Nixon and his staff in the Bay of Pigs."

UNSCHEDULED STOP

Kingston residents got a closeup look at the American Freedom Train over the weekend when the 200-ton steam locomotive slipped a spring hanger and had to make an unscheduled stop at the Penn Central's north yards for repairs. The Bicentennial museum-on-wheels was enroute from New Jersey to Selkirk.

Senior Discount Plan a Success

KINGSTON — Ulster County's Senior Citizen Discount Program will soon go into its second printing of discount coupon books and

Office of Aging secretary Victoria Dye says the project has been a great success.

More than 300 merchants are currently participating in the voluntary program which provides county residents over 62 years old with money off a variety of goods and services including prescriptions, hardware, restaurant meals, automobile service and banking.

Mrs. Dye says that between 11,000 and 12,000 Ulster seniors have already received their discount books and laminated identification cards since the program began in April of this year.

A similar project in Dutchess County has provided more than 16,000 elderly residents with discounts from 635 area merchants.

"I definitely see this as an on-going project," said Mrs. Dye.

"We have had very little dissatisfaction expressed by either merchants or recipients. As a matter of fact, it has been most warmly received by elderly enrollees."

Merchants allow varying discounts or special offers on merchandise as explained on their discount coupon. Most of the discounts do not apply to previously reduced or sale items and the amount of money off varies from store to store.

Registration for the necessary identification card and coupon book is held one week each month at the Office of Aging, 17 Pearl Street, Kingston. The next registration is scheduled for Aug. 16 through 20.

Persons over 62 must bring proof of age with them if they wish to enroll.

Reagan Claims New Support

By UPI

Ronald Reagan has picked up three uncommitted delegates in the Northeast — the first fruit from his selection of Sen. Richard Schweiker of Pennsylvania as his potential running mate.

The three named Monday by the Reagan forces were the first positive responses to the Schweiker selection, which by UPI's count has brought seven delegates into President Ford's camp.

Reagan's campaign manager, John Sears, told a Washington news conference the Californian picked up a dozen new delegates — but UPI and other news organizations had been counting nine of them in his column since before the Schweiker announcement.

Only two of the 10 he named in Pennsylvania, and one from New York actually were new Reagan delegates. Some of those he claimed in Pennsylvania had told UPI shortly after the state's April primary they were for Reagan, and one he claimed in West Virginia had been in his camp for two weeks.

UPI's latest tally shows Ford's strength unchanged at 1,122, Reagan with 1,031 and 106 uncommitted.

Ford's chief delegate hunter James Baker said the new Reagan support was "unsubstantial in our opinion," and added, that by claiming 12 new delegates he was "recounting some of his own votes."

Sears predicted Reagan would have 1,140 delegates when the roll is called in Kansas City. This is the same number of delegates he claimed Reagan had in a news conference before Schweiker's selection.

Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter was flying from his Plains, Ga., home to Manchester, N.H. for a rally today in the state that gave him his first primary victory. Carter was to meet later in the day in Washington, with the Democratic National Steering Committee, and attend a fundraising reception and dinner in the capital.

Four states hold primary elections today and most of the interest focuses on Michigan and Missouri where there are contests for Senate seats held by two powerful veterans. Congressional contests highlight the ballot in Kansas and Idaho.

The $1,236,230 released by the state comptroller's office amounts to approximately 90 per cent of expected welfare expenditures. The remaining 10 per cent is payable after verification of actual expenses for the month.

'Church Tortured Millions...'

Dear Editor:
Mr. Higby, in his July 29th letter, asserts conservative-orthodoxy has no bearing on political attitudes of anti-abortionists.

Who is foolish enough to swallow that?

Fact: The Catholic Church is a political institution. All dioceses are run by their bishops. All bishops take their orders from the Pope. All churches are reactionary, part of the Dark Ages, a creation of the church, with perhaps the exception of the Unitarian.

The church tortured millions during the inquisition who doubted that the earth was flat, that the earth was not the center of the universe.

Nowhere in the Bible (one of thousands) does it say anything about contraception or abortion. These matters are Priestpolitical constructions.

You state the Supreme Court condones corporal punishment, yet condone infanticide. You are confused. A fetus is not a person. The soul is a myth of Plato and other stargazers. The fetus is a potential created by accident.

Two of the greatest threats to the annihilation of this planet are: overpopulation and mass murder — that is, war, the true god of the state. The church is for both. The church blesses wars and blesses birth of rape births and the retarded.

The Bible teaches that man is the superior animal, all done by a Yahweh in six days. Come off it. This is bunk. Man is just one of the animals on this one of billions of possible planets. Many consider the dolphin and the rit superior to man. They are right. Man is possibly superior with his brain, yet maybe seven per cent use it. The rest die dumb as they were born.

Credit Where Credit Is Due

Dear Editor:

I would not want anyone to think, on the basis of the letter from the president of Die Bergvagabunden Schuhplattler (Freeman, July 28) that Mayor Koenig supplied "misleading and offending information" regarding trophy winners in Kingston's Bicentennial parade.

The fact is that I alone am responsible for the photograph that was submitted and the caption supplied it, which appeared in the Freeman on July 21. And R stand behind what I wrote.

According to tilt judges' official evaluation sheets, the Steuben Society was the grand prize winner.

When he was notified, Egon Schreiner, Steuben parade unit organizer, correctly and generously relayed the honor on to the Schuhplattler because he knew that of the three German groups participating as one coordinated unit in the parade, the Schuhplattler were the ones who built and manned the float.

Nine persons were present when the parade trophies were handed out — too many for one picture, so we hid three taken. I selected the one I did for submission to the Freeman because it seemed more nearly representative of all the groups involved than either of the other two.

Contini Calls for Practicality

Dear Editor:

This letter is in response to a letter to the editor in the Freeman on July 28 which referred to me personally. Therefore I have to rebut in a personal manner even though I usually try not to be personal.

I write this letter to inform your readers that I did not circulate a petition for Mr. Kirschner as Mrs. Grassi implied. I did not circulate a petition for him for one simple reason. After listening to both candidates, I felt that Mr. Harold Finkle is more qualified to be county treasurer. It is unfortunate due to circumstances that the county committee chose to endorse the less qualified candidate, when if all points of view had been heard, I think they would have endorsed the more qualified man, Mr. Finkle.

What I did was use a little of the political trickery which I learned from people in the party, people who illegally circulated a designating petition for Mr. Kirschner last year. I just happened to have a petition for Mr. Kirschner with me when I went to a couple of homes where I knew people would give me a big argument if I did not have the petition with me. As it was, I had to listen to a diatribe of accusations and charges concerning O.T.B. at the Grassi residence.

Incidentally, County Chairman William Jackson knew very early in the petition circulating period that I had no intention of circulating a petition for Mr. Kirschner. Since Mr. Jackson was not concerned enough to ask the Grassi to circulate one, why is Mrs. Grassi so concerned about a petition sheet that was not needed and was, in fact, never circulated?

I would have given the petition sheet with the couple of signatures to Mr. Jackson, but since I was the person who nominated Harold Finkle at our convention, I could not do so in good conscience after reading all the charges and counter-charges which were being thrown back and forth in the press.

In politics, there are proper and practical ways to handle situations such as the county treasurer problem. The Esopus Town Chairman and I were right in the manner we handled the county clerk problem last year and I believe we were also correct in the way we have been handling the county treasurer problem this year. With the dirty political laundry I have been reading in the papers the past few weeks, it is obvious to me that some Conservatives could use the experience of a course in practical politics. In fact, if these same Conservatives practiced what they preached, the current disaster in the party would not exist.

No LULUs for Hinchey

Dear Editor:

I read with some dismay a letter from Dianne Eppel in last Friday's Freeman, which implied that I voted for legislative LULUs, the extra pay which many legislators vote themselves each year.

She certainly must not be a regular reader of the Freeman or she would have seen your recent editorial commending me for voting against LULUs for legislators.

As a candidate in 1974 I was outspoken in my opposition to LULUs. As a legislator, I have proposed legislation to eliminate the practice, and I voted against the legislative LULU when it came up for a vote this year. I do not receive one, and will continue to fight against this practice as long as I am a legislator.

I don't know how I can make my position any clearer on this subject, but I do appreciate this opportunity to let your readers know once again that I have kept my word with them on the matter of LULUs.

Zena Doesn't Need 'Gin Mill'

Dear Editor:

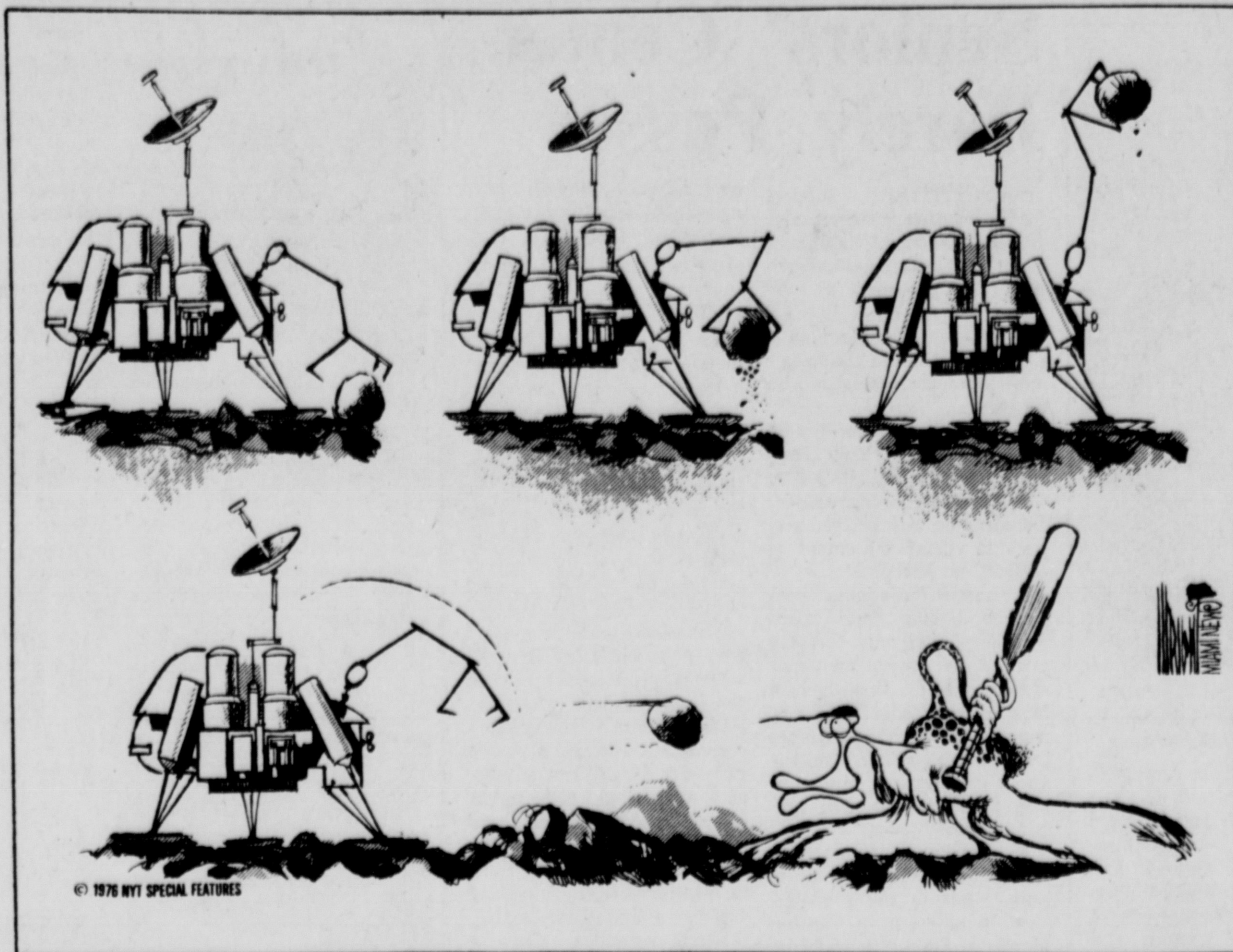

As one who has lived in Zena for twenty-four years, mother of a daughter in Susan Barnett's age group, I am more concerned with the proposed restaurant — with bar, of course — and the element it could attract to the Zena Corners than I am with the questionable convenience of being able to walk to pick up that forgotten bread or milk.

And if Ms. Barnett and her friends who are so fond of walking had patronized the now-closed store which was at the corners, it might still be open and flourishing — without the aid of a bar and grill, gin mill, saloon, the entrance and exit for which will be, I hear, opposite the entrance to the elementary school — an arrangement which should give parents whose children attend that school cause for concern.

I am not against community growth in the right direction. I believe Zena needed its new houses and its new school — that was true progress — but the type of development proposed for the corners is unnecessary and harmful to Zena.

Principles Aren't The Point

It is interesting how useful politicians find it to express themselves on matters of principle. Ronald Reagan advertises his intention to nominate a domestic liberal as his Vice President, and is denounced for breach of principle. Breach of principle is here defined as the acknowledgment that there are many Republicans and other Americans whose views in certain areas fall to the left of one's own. Whereupon John Connally (a man I greatly admire) suddenly discovers that Gerald Ford would be the "better candidate" and endorses him.

Mr. Connally manages to give the impression that he has been in communion with the Lord Almighty to these many months, attempting to decide which of the two men is the better candidate for President. With a single move, Reagan convinced him — that Ford was the stronger candidate. Cool observers must be permitted to conclude that John Connally reasoned not that Mr. Ford would be the better candidate, but that he would be the candidate named in Kansas City. That is why he came out for Ford. The Thomists call that "sufficient reason."

Clarke Reed (a man I greatly like) rose up through the ranks of southern Republicanism as a conservative of the new school, here defined as a conservative who actually reads books and reacts other than viscerally in arriving at his public positions. Reed promised time and again that he would stand by Reagan, whose positions on most public matters are Reed's own. The pressures on Reed, to give him his due, were awful. It isn't easy to arrive at the point of having to tell your secretary not to take any more calls from the President of the United States. Still, the fact is he crumbled. And it is unreasonable to suppose that he did so for reasons other than John Connally's. After all, he was beginning to wobble before anybody heard of Schweiker. Which ends us with the following summary:

Clarke Reed, objecting to Reagan's lack of principle in naming a liberal Vice President, affirmed his own devotion to principle by rejecting the candidate to whom he had pledged his support in favor of the candidate who selected his liberal Vice President two years ago. It is hard to say how the cause of principle is being served by those who in its name are denying the Republican party the chance to field a candidate who can convincingly articulate conservative principles.

The ironies shine through the situation. It cannot, I think, be persuasively contended that, against Mr. Carter, Mr. Ford would do better than Ronald Reagan. Surveying the general chaos, Mr. Carter issued a wonderfully cool statement to the effect that he thought Schweiker was a very good man. In doing so, he inflamed the resentment of Schweiker by disappointed Reaganites; and, in so doing, strengthened the hand of the adversary he hopes to be contending against in the election campaign.

Mr. Alton Frye, of the Council on Foreign Relations, writing in the Wall Street Journal is jubilant about the political effect of Mr. Reagan's maneuver. Look what has happened! he says. By saying he would accept a liberal running mate, Reagan has knocked himself out. But in doing so, he has revalidated the very idea of a liberal running mate. And this means that President Ford can take as his Vice President not a conservative like Connally or Reagan, but a truly qualified candidate, like Percy or Mathias. In other words, Reagan has, however inadvertently, performed a public service.

Clearly it is not going according to plan for the Reagan people. Senator Schweiker hasn't come forward with the names of the delegates whose concern for the elevation of Senator Schweiker was to have led them into Reagan's camp. We do not know, as yet, whether they are intimidated, or whether they were always illusory.

All we are given, at the moment, is the spectacle of conservatives assuaging their pique at having to live in the real world by ushering in the Presidency of Jimmy Carter. It seems ages ago, and of no apparent concern to them, that Carter announced as his choice for a running mate, Walter Mondale.

Why Connally Waited So Long

WASHINGTON—One of the big surprises of last week's dramatic political events was the sudden decision by John Connally to come out in support of President Ford. Mr. Connally visited Mr. Ford on Tuesday, the day after Ronald Reagan announced he had chosen Sen. Richard Schweiker as his vice presidential candidate.

There were some cynical people in Washington who thought that Connally, who had remained neutral up until that moment, made the hurried trip to Washington after he was eliminated as running-mate on the Reagan ticket.

This, I have been assured by Connally's people, was not the case. Connally has always been "secretly" for President Ford, but he was just waiting for the most opportune time to come out for him publicly. The timing of it was sheer coincidence.

This is what really happened. On Friday, three days before Reagan dropped his bombshell, Mr. Connally said to his wife, "Honey, I think we ought to fly up to Washington and tell Gerry Ford we support him."

"That's fine, John," his wife said. "But one of the calves is sick and we can't leave him today. Can't we go tomorrow?" "All right," Connally said. "I don't imagine one day's delay in coming out for Ford will make any difference."

On Saturday Connally said, "Honey, are you packed so we can go to Washington and tell Gerry that we have decided he would make the best candidate for the presidential ticket?"

"My dress hasn't come back from the cleaners," Mrs. Connally said.

"Well, take another dress."

"I will not," Mrs. Connally said. "I selected this dress especially for the moment that you would announce your support for the man who could lead the Republican Party to victory in November."

"Daggonnit," Connally said. "I want to come out for Ford in the worst way and the cleaners are holding up my endorsement."

"We can go tomorrow," Mrs. Connally said.

"There are no reporters at the White House on Sunday," Connally said. "They're all in church."

"Well, then we'll go Monday. What's the big rush? You've been sitting on the fence for so long I couple of days won't matter."

"I guess you're right," Connally said. Monday morning the Connallys took off from Houston. But when they got to Washington their plane was stacked up over National Airport for two hours.

When they finally landed a reporter told the former Texas governor that Ronald Reagan had just announced that he had selected Richard Schweiker to run with him if he was nominated on the Republican ticket.

Connally was furious. "If it wasn't for that sick calf and your dress," he told his wife, "we could have come out for Ford on Saturday. Now it looks like I'm coming out for Ford just so he'll make me this Vice President."

"Nobody who knows you would dream that, John," Mrs. Connally said soothingly. "Leastwise the President. In his heart he knew you were for him all the time."

Connally immediately called the White House and asked to see the President that afternoon.

One of the President's aides told him, "I think you better see him tomorrow. If you saw him today people would think that you were too anxious to get on the Ford bandwagon. By tomorrow they'll know your endorsement of Mr. Ford was sincere."

Well, the rest is history. Connally and the President came out of the White House arm in arm on Tuesday and despite snickering from the White House Press Corps about the timing, President Ford believed everything Connally told him. That's the kind of man Gerry Ford is, and that is why Connally made his decision long ago to support him 1,000 percent.

Haiti Hides Its Dark Side

WASHINGTON — Like the moon, Haiti presents its bright side to the world. But it also has a dark, unseen side which it tries to hide from the world.

The government discourages newsmen from visiting the most bleak areas, where the peasants are starving while their rulers feast. Foreign reporters, who have ventured too far, have been hustled out of the country on the next available plane.

One bold young Haitian reporter named Gassner Raymond dared to write a story criticizing the government. Two weeks later, his body was discovered in a roadside ditch.

We sent our roving reporter, Hal Bernton, to the tiny, mountainous Caribbean nation to seek out the stories the government would like to suppress. Posing as an itinerant student, he traveled with a knapsack on his back into the forbidding area.

Bernton began his investigation in Port-Au-Prince, the bright side of Haiti, where tourists loll in elegant hotels, drink cool glasses of tropical rum punch and dance after dark in sleek discotheques.

But if Haiti is a tropical paradise for the foreign tourists, it is a land of luxury for the ruling class. They are dominated by the amazing Dukalier family, who have amassed a pirate's fortune since the late "Papa Doc" Duvalier seized power in 1958.

His place has now been taken by his 24-year-old son, Jean-Claude Duvalier, more affectionately known as "Baby Doc," who governs under the watchful, maternal eye of his mother, "Maman Simone" Duvalier.

They impose a special tax on nearly all the principal goods the impoverished nation produces. The money goes into the royal treasury for the Duvaliers to spend as they please. Sources who have kept tabs on the mammoth estimate the Duvaliers have stashed over $200 million in Swiss banks.

"We are painfully aware," a U.S. official told Bernton, "that it's the little farmers who have provided the funds to pave the streets of Port-Au-Prince."

The oppressed peasants also have paid for a fleet of 10 sleek automobiles, which "Baby Doc" rides over the paved streets. Sometimes, he scatters money to the appreciative crowds.

The family also owns numerous villas scattered around the country. The latest acquisition was a Spanish hacienda for "Maman Simone."

From the bright lights and plush hotels of Port-Au-Prince, Bernton headed with his knapsack into the northwest section of Haiti. He sought directions from missionaries, social workers and others familiar with the hinterland. They warned him the Haitian military would stop him from entering the area.

Nevertheless, Bernton climbed aboard a colorfully painted native bus and perched himself on the roof of the jolting, all-day ride up the island. The opulence of Port-Au-Prince quickly faded into scenes of stark poverty.

Alongside the dusty road were clusters of mud-walled houses, with roofs of palm fronds. Young children, with the thin arms and swollen bellies that betray malnutrition, stood naked in the dust. Some stared sullenly; others shouted greetings.

Haiti is the poorest nation in the Western hemisphere. Bernton made his way into its poorest region. He hiked the last 10 miles to an isolated village. Along the way, he passed through a desolate land of charcoaled tree stumps. The trees had been felled by natives, the hard wood burned into charcoal for fuel. Among the blackened stumps were even darker thickets of cactus.

Without vegetation to stop the erosion, rain torrents had carved deep gullies into the barren terrain. The swirling water had washed away the soil, leaving only exposed cracks.

The land had also been baked by two summers of drought. Yet the Haitian government had refused at first to acknowledge the drought and had later barred U.S. voluntary agencies from bringing in free clothing. This might have competed with the thriving used-clothing business Duvalier's favored friends operate in Port-Au-Prince.

Bernton was exhausted when he reached the village. The dirt-poor villagers brought him ripe mangoes to eat. He was taken in by an amary family, who lived in a small thatched hut atop a barren knoll.

The farmer tried to scratch a living from a small plot watered by a tiny creek.

"This year, the rain has not come," the farmer said, shaking his head wearily. "We work so hard. And all for nothing. Many of the children are weak. Each year, we replant our land. But there is no rain. Nothing grows."

To escape starvation, many people already have left the region. Some set out dangerously in flimsy little sailboats, hoping to reach the Bahamas. Others made the hard trek to Port-Au-Prince with the faint hope of finding work.

The village leader took Bernton on a tour of the area.

"The people's situation is critical," he said. "The mango harvest is nearly finished and there will soon be nothing left to eat."

Bernton saw how dependent the people were on the sweet mangoes. They sucked up every last drop of the juice, then threw away the skins to be eaten by dogs, pigs, donkeys and goats.

The children, their hair turned a harsh color by malnutrition, usually squatted in front of their huts. They were too weak to run and play.

Death Toll Rises In Flash Flood

LOVELAND, Colo. (UPI) — Survivors rescued Monday night during the final evacuation of a devastated narrow Rocky Mountain canyon told of seeing bodies half buried in piles of muck and debris.

At least 76 persons were known dead from the weekend flash flood that roared 10-feet high through the gorge, destroying homes, vehicle and trailers and drowning campers and fishermen.

Authorities were certain ground crews would find more bodies today tangled in the huge trees, brush and wreckage strewn along the river banks of the Big Thompson Canyon.

Two brothers, Stan, 22, and Mike Urvan, 21, of San Francisco were among the last to be rescued by the helicopter crews. They said they saw "several bodies and horses half-buried in the debris and large sections of the highway that disappeared."

They saw what appeared to be the body of a woman. "We saw her hand sticking out of the mud," Stan said. "It looked unreal, like a mannequin."

Twin-engine Army helicopters, glimpsing a break in the heavy clouds, swept into the area Monday and plucked 140 survivors from the canyon.

Another 135 homeowners and campers elected to stay there. Larimer County Sheriff Bob Watson said an estimated 1,000 survivors had been rescued in two days by the CH35 Chinook troop-carrying helicopters. He said others had hiked out by themselves.

He said the helicopter pilots reported seeing "12 to 15 bodies" from the air.

"We know there are other bodies in there," he said.

The bodies were taken to makeshift morgues set up in Loveland, downstream from the canyon, and to scenic Estes Park near Rocky Mountain National Park. Worried families and friends went to the morgues, carrying pictures to identify their missing relatives.

Only five bodies had been identified Monday night — a state patrolman killed trying to warn the campers and four members of a college church group.

Rain fell off and on during the day Monday, pushing the river up only slightly but keeping the helicopters on the ground.

The evacuees, carrying belongings they had snatched from their homes or trailers, were calm and in good condition.

Fun And Erudition At The Playhouse

The Greenwich Village coffeehouses have come to Woodstock!

"The Coming Together Festival of Dance and Music" is the title of a potpourri of ethnic dances and music (mostly the latter) put together by folk singers Bill Vanaver and Livia Drapkin and their friends and played in a one-night stand at the Woodstock Playhouse Monday.

The small but appreciative audience let its partiality show with whistles and shouts of "Bravo" after each number. The atmosphere was both intimate and intense and the crowd participated throughout — whether asked to or not by the performers.

Primitive folk rhythms and those who assay them have always been the darlings of the intellectuals, with each decade finding a "new" cause — blue grass, folk, Hispanic, soul or even Indian.

While much of this may be a little too esoteric for many of us, there is much to be said for all forms and this show, if nothing else, certainly contains variety.

The subject matter derived from many lands and cultures, most notably from the U.S.S.R. (especially Georgian), Crete, England, France and the Southern U.S. The piece may have more meaning than was apparent here, I shall have to leave it to the more erudite element to decipher. There were, however, many highlights in the program — notably in the first act. In addition to the vivacious solo dancing by Ms. Drapkin, there were many Russian folk songs and some very unusual music of Crete — some of it played by native Cretan now living in the U.S., George Kalokridis.

The audience was as unusual as the program itself — and as interesting to watch. At the very least, the Woodstock Playhouse Association must be commended for the variety of its programming.

U.S. Food Policy Criticized

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — In keeping with their theme, "The Eucharist and the Hungers of the Human Family", delegates to the 41st International Eucharistic Congress filled a ship headed for Bangladesh with 200,000 pounds of rice.

As the rice was being loaded Monday onto a freighter docked in Philadelphia, Bishop James Rausch of Washington, D.C., sharply criticized U.S. food policies as being motivated by money, not concern.

"A fundamental conflict presently exists between the right to food for persons in need and the right to sell by agricultural merchants," Rausch told 4,000 persons attending a symposium on world hunger. "U.S. food policy today clearly gives higher priority to the latter right."

Officials said the rice shipment to Bangladesh would be only one of many to come out of a national campaign which had raised nearly $5 million for Operation Rice

Bowl. The funds will be used to buy farm implements and tools as well as food, they said.

The day's events ended with a communion service for 30,000 delegates at Veterans Stadium.

"The presence of Christ hungering in the world is characterized by two grim realities: starvation and malnutrition," Rausch said. "This poses a challenge for the people of God, especially for the Christians in the U.S.A."

He said the presence of starvation in the world has "severe moral implications for the United States."

More than a million persons are expected to attend related symposiums and other events at the eight-day congress, the first to be held in the United States in 50 years.

Princess Grace of Monaco addressed an afternoon session of a symposium on "family life."

The eight-day congress winds up Sunday with a mass at John F. Kennedy Stadium. President Ford said he would attend the final session.

D & H Canal Museum Offers A Trip for the Imagination Down 108 Miles of Canal

The D and H Canal Historical Society, which celebrated its 10th birthday this Bicentennial year, is dedicated to informing the public of the historical, sociological, financial and educational importance of the D and H Canal and related industries.

HIGH FALLS— No one has travelled the D and H Canal lately. The last barge passed through the canal system from Honesdale, Pa. to Kingston on Jan. 3, 1899. But — you can travel in your imagination by visiting the D and H Canal Museum in High Falls. Take the trip down the 108 miles of canal by walking through the doors of the former St. John's Episcopal Church on Mohonk Road in High Falls.

The first exhibit to start you on your journey is the 8 by 14 foot map that shows the path of the canal which provided a man-made waterway for the transportation of anthracite coal for most of the last century.

The war of 1812 had cut off the supply of soft coal from England and a crisis had arisen. Getting the anthracite or hard coal to New York was the challenge. The Delaware and Hudson Canal was the answer; On Jan. 7, 1825, the Wirts brothers formed the D and H Canal Company and the stock offered for sale that day was oversubscribed in a few hours. The D and H Canal Company ultimately grew to become the first privately owned million dollar industry in America.

As you travel through the museum you will see exhibits such as the Coal Cyclorama, donated by the Kingston Trust Company. This cyclorama depicts the loading of coal on the barges and has as its focal point an original shovel from the D and H Canal Company.

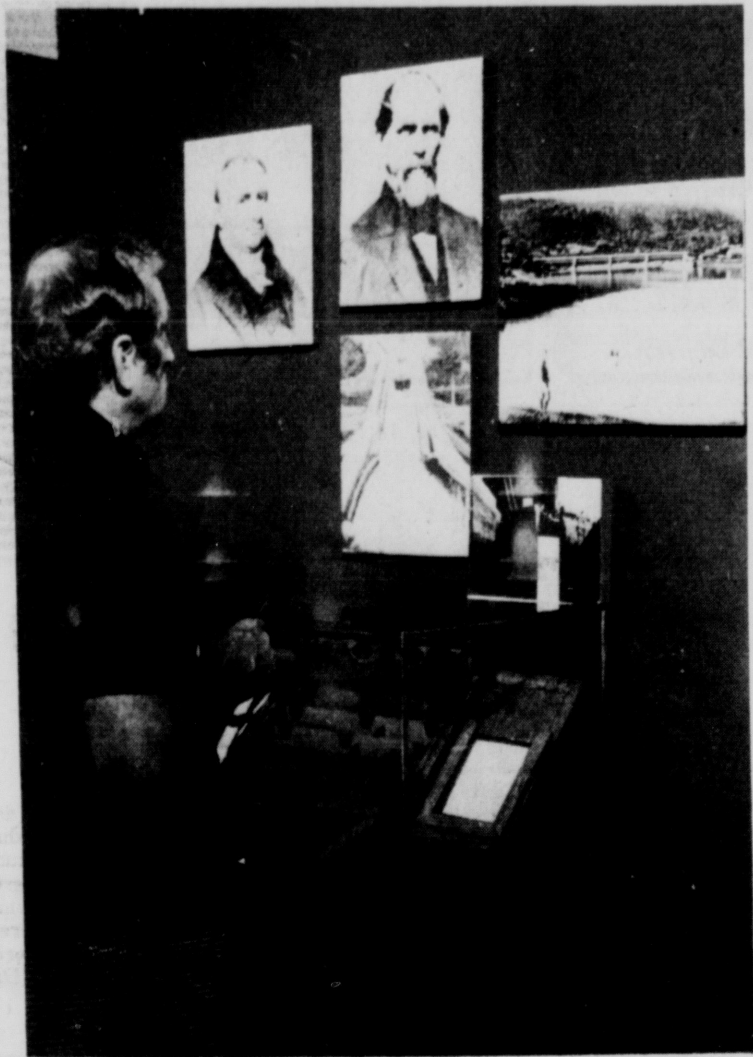

A corner exhibit, donated by the Eva Gebhard-Courgaud Foundation shows the Telegraph Office in High Falls as it looked when operating. The original building is standing on Rte. 213 in High Falls. The desk and furnishings, including the office memorabilia, are authentic.

Another corner exhibit reproduces the interior of a canal boat cabin. The average cabin aboard a canal boat had two bunks along one side and one on the other. Shelves for dishes were sometimes located over the bunks. A drop leaf table and a small wood stove completed the furnishings. This cabin boasts a bath tub under the bed for the Saturday night custom.

The museum and its exhibits, artifacts, and memorabilia are the result of the work of the D and H Canal Historical Society which owns and operates this unique facility for the community. The Society, which celebrated its 10th birthday this Bicentennial year, is dedicated to informing the public of the historical, sociological, financial and educational importance of the D and H Canal and related industries. The Society is actively engaged in restoration projects and in the development of trails and other recreational facilities along the canal path. Its Education Committee will provide organizations with a slide presentation and a discussion of the canal and the film, "Canawler."

The Society supports the museum and its other activities by membership and fund raising activities such as the weekly Sunday Flea Markets in the D and H Canal Park, Rte. 213 on the site of Old Lock 17. The museum also raises money through the sale of books, artifacts, tee shirts, and postcards in its Book Store in the museum.

For group visitation or more information call the Museum or take a museum trip on the D and H Canal by coming Wednesday through Friday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. or on Saturday and Sunday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. After Labor Day fall hours are from 1 to 5 p.m. Admission is free. Groups may arrange tours by contacting Mrs. Warren Van Kleeck, Kingston. Guided tours of the museum exhibits are scheduled every hour.

VISITOR looks at the field desk of Austin Daniel Ewen, civil engineer and surveyor.

INTERIOR of telegraph office in High Falls is reproduced with original desk and documents. Restoration was funded by the Eva Gebhard-Gourgaud Foundation.

Hope Sheridan, of Windham, "Miss German Alps Festival," is shown with Sen. Howard Nolan and Assemblyman Clarence Lane in the lead car of the opening day parade of the German Alps Festival at Hunter Mountain. The mile-long parade kicked off 12 days of festivities which run until Aug. 8.

Time out from the "oompah" to admire the horses at the German Alps Festival at Hunter Mountain through Aug. 8.

The Schuhplattlers, German Folk Dancing Group, give a young member a lift during the grand opening parade of the German Alps Festival currently attracting visitors at Hunter Mountain through Aug. 8.

'Oompah' Music, Crafts, Puppets, Sky Rides, Hang Gliders...All at German Alps Festival

HUNTER—The German Alps Festival in the Catskills has many new features for its fourth annual 12-day edition extending through Sunday, Aug. 8.

A focal point is the large collection of gaily colored tents based at Hunter Mountain. The huge brand new Bavarian blue and white main tent will comfortably seat 4000 persons at long brightly covered tables. It will be the scene of continuous exciting "oompah" music played daily by the 26-piece Luggi's Black Forest band of Schopfheim, Germany. New York area bands include Knickerbockers of New York City, the Bavarian Barons of Nassau, the Pretzels of Germantown and in its first Hunter appearance, the 25-piece Foehrer Musik Freunde Band from Long Island. Coming from Pennsylvania will be the Mischief Makers of Reading, the Junior Ambassadors of Allentown, and the roving band, the Rhinelanders of Centerport.

The music fare will be rounded off with that of the zither by Tony Noichl in the Gaststette (restaurant) tent.

the unique sounds of the 13-foot Alpine horns of brothers Johann and Georg Sojer of Ruhpolding, Bavaria, Germany.

The schuhplattling (folk dancing) will again feature the Germania Almrausch of Poughkeepsie and also the Schaefer, Erwin Schaefer will also play the Alpine cow bells.

Coming to the U.S. to feature the working crafts department will be Johannes Gerlich who operates a steinmaking business in Hilscheid, Germany. Demonstrating with him at the festival will be his wife, Christa Ruth, Walter Schmidt and Alex Fries.

Max Thurner, a glass schleifer of Kufstein, Austria, will be cutting intricate glass plates, trays and the like, while Gustl Eich of Bavaria's Oberammergau will again be the featured wood carver.

A daily demonstration of falconry coupled with lectures by noted falcon authority German-born Dr. Heinz Meng will be another festival first.

Other free attractions include the Kasperle puppet show, the hot-air balloon ascent, and a new petting zoo featuring 150 animals.

Hunter Mountain itself gets attention with hang gliders soaring daily (weather permitting) from the 3,200 foot high summit. During the final weekend Aug. 6 to 8, the New York State Hang Gliding Association will hold the first German Alps Festival Hang Glider Fly-In. More than 30 participants are expected to compete for cash prizes and trophies.

And the Hunter Mountain Sky Ride, a mile-long scenic ride to the summit of the Colonel's Chair, opens on a daily basis.

Festival foods include sauerbraten, knockwurst, bratwurst, leberkase and grilled chicken prepared by German cooks. A Munich Oktoberfest charcoal broiled fish eatery is new as well as German potato pancakes. The Konditorei (coffee-pastry shop) is in the Alpenhaus tent. Huge soft pretzels are made on the spot and radishes, another Oktoberfest taste, are served.

Hunter Mountain is located on Rte. 23A. Festival gates open at 10 a.m. Music ends at midnight. Adult admission is $2.50, children under 12 free. Parking is $1 per auto. Special bus group rates are available.

DEAR ABBY

Turn Routine, Duty-visits to Nursing Home Residents into Special Events

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column about visiting the elderly in nursing homes prompts my first "Dear Abby" letter.

I agree, it's a great service to visit an elderly friend or relative in a nursing home, but consider this: Instead of going there to sit with him while you both look at the same four walls he looks at day in and day out, why not give him a change of scenery?

Take him for a little drive and stop for a bite to eat. Or take him window shopping. Or treat him to a home-cooked meal with the family. Just being away from the institution will relieve his boredom and lift his spirits.

If he isn't able to walk, be aware that they now make lightweight wheelchairs that can be easily folded and tucked into the trunk of the car.

Abby, this is a plea to your readers who visit someone in a nursing home: Please turn those routine duty-visits into special events by treating the patient to an occasional outing. It will do wonders for him. And for you, too. I know. I've been a volunteer in such a home for over 10 years.—BESS

DEAR BESS: What a pity you'll never know how much happiness your suggestion will bring to countless residents of nursing homes throughout the nation. Bless you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: I am so glad I can write to you with this problem because it has bothered me for years and I can't go to anyone else with it.

You see, my parents were never married, which makes me illegitimate, right? I'm not exactly proud of it, but I don't let it bother me too much because there is nothing I can do about it.

I married a very nice man and we have two lovely children. I want so much for them to be legitimate, but if I'm not, then

THEY can't be either, and that is my problem.

What must I do to make my children legitimate? Thank you.—MEMPHIS MOM

DEAR MOM: You did it. You married their father. All children born to a married couple are legitimate, regardless of the legitimacy (or illegitimacy) of their parents.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Summer Playground Parks' Exhibit of Crafts On Display at US Bank

KINGSTON—The Kingston Recreation Department will be exhibiting an Arts and Crafts Display at the Ulster Savings Bank on Wall Street this Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The crafts are those made at the summer playground parks program, and exhibits from all of the playgrounds will include leather crafts, paper weights, lanyard work, bead work, sand terrariums and other crafts.

The city park playgrounds will be back to normal this week now that float building and the Childrens Day Parade have been concluded. The major arts and crafts projects will be sand terrariums and craft sticks. Softball will be underway with the boys' division on Wednesday: Hutton at Block; Hasbrouck gres to Loughran; and Brigham at Forsyth. For the girls on Thursday, Forsyth will be at Loughran and Hasbrouck will be at Block.

The 10th Annual Childrens Day Parade was a big success according to Joe Mannello, activities director of the Recreation Department, who expresses appreciation to all who assisted.

At Dietz Stadium the results of the judging in the various categories was announced as follows: Best Junior Band to the Junior Indians of Kingston; Best Senior Band to the Highland Amerscot Pipers; Best Marching Unit was awarded to the Kingston Paid Firefighters; Best Float went to Auditorium Playground and Children's Home (tied); and Best Appearing Playground went to Loughran Park.

Expanded Program of Livestock Judging Planned at County Fair

NEW PALTZ — A new feature of this year's Ulster County Fair will be an expanded program of livestock judging and entertainment, always a popular item with fairgoers.

On opening day, Thursday, Aug. 12, fairgoers will be able to see the 4-H dog obedience show under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Cummings. The show, which includes classes from beginners to advanced open work, promises to be one of the best ever. Rabbits and small animals will be judged at 11 a.m., poultry and fowl at 1:30.

For the first time ever at the fair, there will be a sheep blocking and trimming contest for 4-H members. Each contestant must first catch a sheep, then in an hour clean it, trim it and get it ready for a show. The contest provides plenty of action for children, sheep and spectators, and will be held at 7 p.m. by the sheep barn. Friday, Aug. 13, will bring on the 4-H horse show, eastern division, beginning at 8 a.m. Across the street at 9 a.m. the dairy show will get under way. Beef, goats and swine in that order will show at 3:30.

The Ulster County Horsemen's Advisory Committee will present a gymkhana at 7 p.m. One of the highlights will be the New York State Barrel Racing Championships.

The 4-H horse show continues at 8 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 14, with its western division. In the show ring the open class sheep show will be an all-day event. At noon in the horse ring, the Ulster County Mutt Masters will present their championship routine and demonstrate obedience work.

The open class horse show starts bright and early Sunday, Aug. 15, and is an all-day event. At 12:30 in the show ring, 4-H dairy exhibitors will compete in four classes of showmanship.

Another Giant Step for Esopus LL

POUGHKEEPSIE—The Esopus Little League All-Stars saw fit to end the season of yet another opponent Monday night.

Esopus, representing District 16, conquered District 15 champion Poughkeepsie City National, 5-4, in Spratt Park here and thus advanced to a Wednesday night, 6 p.m., meeting against Saratoga Springs in Ft. Edward.

If Esopus wins Wednesday night, it would advance to the state sectional semi-finals to be played at Rome.

The winners displayed the marks of a championship contender, combining the home runs of Bob McDonald and John Loughlin with the relief pitching of Dave Dahl to stop Poughkeepsie.

Esopus grabbed an early 3-0 lead in the first when Poughkeepsie starter Rich Hannan, who later smacked a three-run homer to make it close in the fifth, hit leadoff batter Bob Baxter with a pitch.

Dahl's fielder's choice erased Baxter, then McDonald sent his home run over the centerfield fence. Clark Maines, who carries him 3-0 mound mark against Saratoga Springs Wednesday, then doubled, moved to third on a wild pitch, and scored on a single by Bob Blaha, the starting and winning pitcher.

Poughkeepsie got one back in the second as Kevin Lawrence homered to right. Neither team scored in the third, then Esopus put across two in the fourth when Blaha walked, was sacrificed to second by Tony Amato, and came home on Loughlin's homer over the rightfield fence. Esopus led, 5-1.

But Poughkeepsie was not going down without a fight. In the fifth, with one out, Scott Amone singled, Jeff Thomas whiffed, and Andy Dixon hit a ground rule double to put runners on second and third. Hannan uncorked a 300-foot three-run homer to bring Poughkeepsie within one, 5-4. Dahl relieved Blaha after the homer and struck out Mike McGann to end the inning.

Poughkeepsie threatened again in the sixth, a two-out louble putting a man in scoring position. But Dahl induced Tom Cernigila to fly out to left field to end the game and send Esopus deeper into the tournament.

Hannan pitched well for Poughkeepsie, striking out four, walking two and allowing just five hits. Unfortunately for him, two of them were homers and the third a double. Poughkeepsie actually outit Esopus, 7-5.

Blaha whiffed six and walked three, allowed four runs and six hits in four and two-thirds innings. Dahl allowed one hit, walked none and whiffed two in one and two-thirds innings of relief.

Directions to Fort Edward Little League field for Wednesday night's game: New York State Thruway north to the Northway, take exit 17 off Northway, go north on Route 9. Take right at Robert Hall store to Route 197, follow to Ft. Edward.

Doyle: Winning's More Important

By UPI

Doyle Alexander could have been excused for throwing a chair—or at least a towel—in the New York Yankees' clubhouse Monday night after missing his fourth bid for a no-hitter in six weeks.

Instead, the 25-year-old righthander shrugged off his latest effort—6 2-3 perfect innings before yielding a hit—with the comment, "I don't get beaten by hits, only runs."

Alexander, acquired by the Yankees in a 10-player deal with the Baltimore Orioles minutes before the June 15 trading deadline, had a perfect game until Rusty Staub singled with two out in the eighth inning and wound up with a two-hitter that gave the Yankees a 1-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers. He had previously come close to no-hitters on June 24, July 23 and July 28.

"I don't feel disappointed about coming close to a no-hitter," Alexander said. "When I get to top out in the ninth inning some day I'll think about it. Some of the best pitchers in baseball haven't pitched nohitters (Lefty Grove, Dizzy Dean and Tom Seaver among others), so why should I feel bad?"

"If I get a no-hitter some day I'll feel fine," he added. "But I want to win more."

Alexander, who is being used regularly as a starter since being acquired by the Yankees, raised his season record to 6-7. Pinch-hitter Alex Johnson singled in the ninth for the other hit off Alexander, who struck out five and walked none.

Mickey Rivers singled in the only run of the game in the third inning after a double by Sandy Alomar. Alexander was helped by excellent defensive plays. Lou Piniella made two outstanding catches and Roy White made a tumbling catch on a sinking liner.

Milwaukee defeated Baltimore 7-1, Boston beat Cleveland 3-1 and Minnesota topped Oakland 3-0 in the American League's only scheduled games.

Brewers 7, Orioles 1

Jim Colborn pitched an eight-hitter and Gary Sutherland and Von Joshua knocked in two runs each leading Milwaukee over Baltimore. Joshua and Rob-in Yount each had a key hit in a four-run, seventh-inning rally which clinched the victory. It was Colborn's seventh win against 11 losses while Rudy May suffered his eighth setback.

Red Sox 3, Indians 1

Rick Wise pitched a five-hitter and Carl Yastrzemski drove in two runs for Boston, which celebrated the hiring of Don Zimmer as manager through 1977 with its triumph. Wise's win raised his mark to 9-8 while Pat Dobson lost his 10th game against 11 wins.

Twins 3, A's 0

Steve Luebber pitched an eight-hitter for his second win and Butch Wynegar drove in two runs for Minnesota, which has won 13 of its last 15 games. The Twins are now within 8½ games of the first-place Kansas City Royals and 1½ ahead of the third-place A's in the American League West.

One Man's Pleasure Is Another's Poison

By UPI

They say that one man's pleasure is another man's poison.

That certainly was the case Monday night as St. Louis' Pete Falcone struck out Pittsburgh's Al Oliver, who began the game as the National League's leading hitter, three times enroute to a four-hit, nine-strikeout, 4-0 victory over the Pirates.

Said Falcone with a smile: "I think it was the smartest game I've pitched in the majors."

Said Oliver with a frown: "It was the first bad game I can say I've had all year." The 22-year-old St. Louis southpaw, now 7-11, was proud that he got Oliver to swing at low, outside curve balls. He said two of Oliver's strikeout pitches were curves, the other a fastball.

"I'm pretty happy about it," Falcone said. "You really want to show him what you have. I respect him and I want him to respect me. I think I got it tonight."

"He's got to be a good pitcher," said Oliver. "He got me out four times and struck me out three times. It's self-explanatory."

Oliver's 0-for-4 performance dropped him to .337, one point behind Cincinnati's Ken Griffey.

Falcone's strategy was to jam Pittsburgh's long-ball hitters with inside fastballs and keep them off balance with breaking pitches. "A little bit of luck didn't hurt," he added.

Falcone's luck also carried over to the plate—he had two hits, the second one driving Pirate starter Doc Medich, 5-10, out of the game. It drove home the final run in the Cardinals' three-run seventh.

Conceding he still has a lot to learn, Falcone said he is becoming a "smarter" pitcher every day. Can he win 20 next season?

"Maybe, but I said I'd win 20 games this year, so who knows?"

His immediate ambition is to even his record this season at 5-0.

The four Cardinal runs were driven in by light hitters, Keith Hernandez having the best batting average among them at .241. Besides Hernandez and Falcone, Lee Richard and Hector Cruz also had run-scoring singles.

In other games, Chicago beat Philadelphia 4-2, Montreal nipped New York 5-4, Cincinnati dumped San Francisco 5-1, San Diego swept Atlanta, 7-3 and 7-0, and Los Angeles shaded Houston 5-4 in 11 innings.

Cubs 4, Phillies 2

Pete LaCock's two-run homer in the first inning proved to be the decisive blow as Chicago defeated starter Jim Loeborg, 12-6, and Philadelphia. Cubs' starter Bill Bonham won his seventh game in 16 decisions.

Expos 5, Mets 4

Pinch-hitter Jose Morales belted a three-run homer with one out in the ninth inning to bring Montreal from behind for a victory over New York. Morales, who leads the league in pinch hits with 14, hit his fourth homer—No. 3 pinch-hitting—to sink Skip Lockwood, 6-7, who hit him with a pitch last week in Montreal.

Reds 5, Giants 2

Johnny Bench had three hits, drove in a run and scored another to power Cincinnati over San Francisco. Bench singled to drive in the go-ahead run in the eighth inning when the Reds scored four times to break a 1-1 tie with the Giants. Cincinnati had six hits in the inning with pinch-hitter Bob Bailey, Pete Rose and Joe Morgan driving in the other runs.

Padres 7-7, Braves 3-0

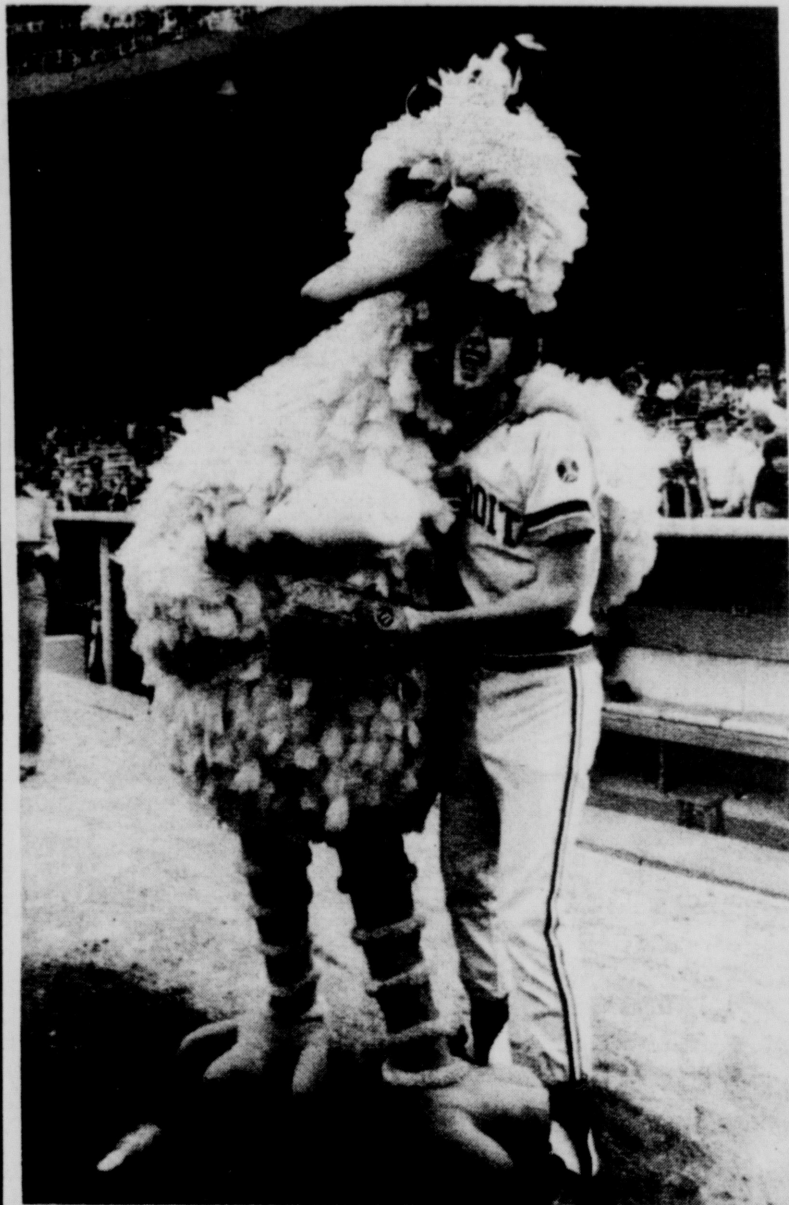

Enzo Hernandez had three hits, including his second major league home run in six seasons, to lead San Diego to a come-from-behind victory over Atlanta in the opener. The victory snapped a five-game Padre losing streak.

Rookie Rick Sawyer, called up from the International League on Saturday, pitched a shutout in his first NL appearance and Johnny Grubb batted home four runs with two homers and a single as the Padres swept the Braves.

Dodgers 5, Astros 4

Dusty Baker's full-count, two-out home run in the bottom of the 11th inning gave Los Angeles a victory over Houston. It was Baker's third homer and gave Elias Sosa, the fifth Dodger pitcher, his fifth triumph against seven losses. Sosa had retired all six batters he faced in the 10th and 11th innings.

BIRD TO BIRD

Mark "The Bird" Fidrych, Detroit's madcap pitcher who has the lowest earned run average in the majors (1.80), lets out a yelp as he meets Big Bird of Sesame Street fame prior to Monday night's game. The Bird, Fidrych, that is, pitches tonight.

DEC Announces Changes in Game Status

ALBANY—It may be only mid-summer, but the Department of Environmental Conservation is already looking forward to this fall's small game season.

As a result of recent legislation, several animals previously unprotected have been given game status. These animals have been given seasons and bag limits by the Department.

The newly designated protected species are the grey and red fox, coyote, crow, bobcat and lynx. All but the lynx will have seasons this fall. The lynx is fully protected and may not be taken by hunters.

Because the Legislature remained in session later than usual this year, Department printing of the four guides issued with licenses have been delayed. Although licenses will go on sale across the state September 1st, supplies of three of the four guides will not reach license agents until mid-September.

Priority in printing is being given to the big game guide. This is expected to reach license-issuing agents by September 1st so that applicants for party permits will not be delayed. The three other guides—small game, trapping and fishing—should be available by September 15 from all agents.

Most small game seasons are identical to last year's. Some changes have been made however, in the season and boundaries for varying hare and turkey. Hunting hours remain generally from sunrise to sunset. Migratory birds, such as ducks and geese, may be shot one-half hour before sunrise till sunset. Although a migratory bird, the woodcock is an exception, and may be taken only from sunrise to sunset.

When hunting woodcock, gallinules, rail or snipe, the $5 Federal duck stamp is not required, but the shotgun must be plugged to hold no more than three shells. This same restriction also applies for duck and geese hunting. Dates for the waterfowl season will be announced in late August by the Federal government.

The license year, which runs from October 1 through September 30, and license fees remain the same as last year.

In Ulster county the squirrel season opens October 18 and lasts till February 28. The bag limit is five per day. Ruffed grouse hunting has the same season with a limit of four per day.

For pheasant, the season lasts from October 1-31 and the bag limit is two per day. The cottontail rabbit season is October 18-February 28 and the per day limit is six.

The bag limit for varying hare is two per day and lasts for the season of December 15-Feb. 28. For the European hare, the season is the same, but the limit is one per day.

The wild turkey enjoys two hunting seasons. During the first, which lasts from October 18-November 7, one turkey per season is the limit. During the spring season of May 16-29, only one bearded turkey may be taken.

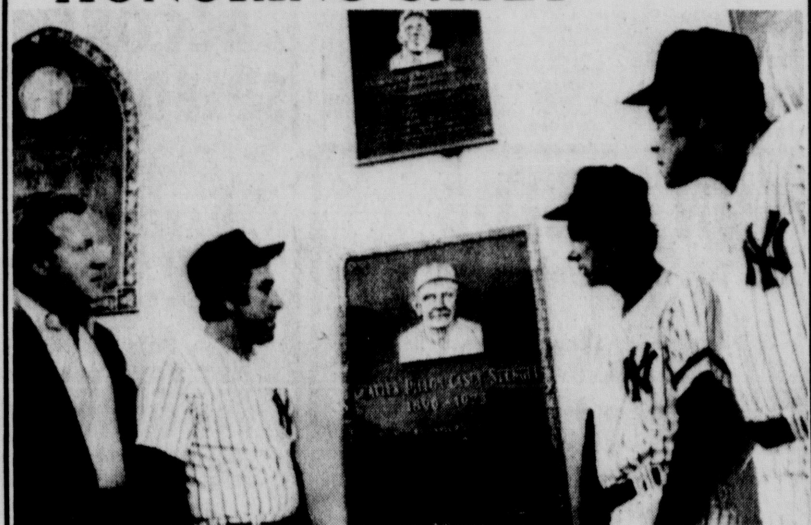

The raccoon, common crow and bobcat have no bag limits. The raccoon season is October 16-March 13 and the first-ever crow season lasts from September 1-November 15 and February 12-March 13. The bobcat season is October 16 through March 13.

The red and grey fox season is October 16-March 13, no bag limit. The coyote season is the same, also with no limits.

For woodcocks, the season in Ulster County is October 1-November 23. The limit is five per day, ten in possession. The gallinule season is September 1-November 4. The limit is fifteen per day, 25 aggregate in possession.

For snipe, the season is September 1-November 4, eight per day, 16 in possession.

Rondout Braves Take Round-Robin Title

By SAM PILLSBURY
Freeman Staff

KINGSTON—Boosted by the strong pitching that brought them to the final, the Rondout Valley Braves climbed over the Kingston American Reds, 5-2, at the American Little League Park Monday night to go home with the District 16 Round-Robin championship.

Ian Walker was on the mound and his accurate hurling made the difference. Kingston batters managed four hits off him, but that was not enough as Walker only walked one and was well supported by a tight Braves defense.

Rondout's victory margin was provided in the third. The Braves got none of their three hits in the inning, but scored three of their five runs.

Walker came around with the first when Reds second baseman John Bruck dropped Charlie Haas' grounder. The score was set up by loose play which brought Walker to third base. He was walked by Kingston starter Tony Tiano and advanced on Mark Bunce's misplay of a Carl Salerno bouncer and another Tiano walk.

Carl Salerno scored the second run in the aftermath of Walker's

In the aftermath of Walker's run, Salerno stole home. Jeff Shufelt, who had walked, scored on Mike Beyersdorfer's grounder.

The Reds did not get on the scoreboard until the fifth inning, when the two runs they came up with, only matched Rondout's production for the bracket.

Tiano started off the inning and the rally for Kingston by tagging the games longest hit, a high shot to center which bounced just before the fence. Tiano couldn't advance beyond first on the hit, so he took second by stealing it. He scored when Komosa lashed a double over the third base bag.

Komosa came home with the final Red tally when Bob Reilly snaked a double past Walker and second baseman Dan Sindt. The last two for Rondout came when Mike Beyersdorfer and Sindt both had singles, bringing home Shufelt and Haas. Again, a walk and an error had put the Braves scorers on base.

The final game of the tournament, which was held for the benefit of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, was also the final game of the season for both teams. Jack O'Leary's Braves finished with a 23-1 mark while the Reds, coached by Ray Reilly, won 20, lost three and tied one.

Walker, the game's winner, extended his undefeated streak to 12. Walker's teammate, Shufelt, Rondout's other starter, also finished up with a string of wins. His season record was 13-0. The two hurlers accounted for all of the Braves wins.

Losing pitcher Tiano had impressive stats, striking out 12 (to Walker's seven), but his four walks hurt as much as the whiffs helped.

For O'Leary and the Braves it was a long haul to the championship. O'Leary has coached for four years. In his second season, the Braves finished dead last. Last year the club managed third place, but this time around, the Rondout players could finish in celebration, and they did, throwing their caps in the air.

Killanin Warns Russians: No Politics at 1980 Games or Else

MONTREAL (UPI)—The Olympic flame has gone out, the Village is deserted and the tourists have gone home. Outside of a few posters no one would know Montreal had played host to the 1976 Games.

Already they are a memory, and maybe it's just as well, because for many the Games held here always will be remembered as the ones that nearly ended the Olympic movement.

Lord Killanin, the stately Irishman whose demeanor and speech seems from another era, saved these Games for Montreal but before leaving for home Monday he put the next hosts—the Russians—on notice the International Olympic Committee will pull the rug, even at the last minute, if politics are introduced.

Up until now only the Canadian government knows how close Killanin came to calling off these Games over the Taiwan issue and the only reason he didn't was because of the inconvenience it would have cost a lot of countries and their athletes. In a news conference here Monday, Killanin said if the Russians attempt the same sort of political maneuver as the Canadians pulled off here he will cancel the Olympics in a minute.

Killanin said the Soviet government has guaranteed that every National Olympic Committee recognized by the IOC will be invited to send a team to Moscow. That would include countries Russia doesn't recognize, such as the Republic of China, Chile and Israel. The Canadian government doesn't recognize the ROC either, and it's refusal to permit entry to the Chinese from Taiwan at the last minute put the IOC on the spot.

After painful deliberations, which at one point had the United States ready to pull out, the IOC backed down. The ROC athletes went home and Canada got its way.

"We had to consider the athletes, some of whom already were in residence at the Olympic Village," said Killanin. "If we had cancelled a month before the Games, it would have been a disaster."

Following that loss of face, the IOC revised its rules and now its executive board can take "immediate action" if confronted with a similar political question, and that includes sanctions or outright dismissal of countries such as the block of African and Arab countries (29) who pulled out in protest over the presence of New Zealand.

Before returning to Dublin, Killanin said there is serious concern about the staggering costs of staging the Games (it cost Canada $1.5 billion with two thirds of that figure expected to be a loss) and a change might be made. Presumably, the subject will next be taken up when the executive board meets in October in Barcelona, Spain.

The site of the 1984 Games won't be made until 1978. A campaign already has been started in behalf of Teherin. Montreal is now part of Olympic history.

Sports Roundup: Bosox Extend Zimmer's Contract

By UPI
Boston manager Don Zimmer, who took over on a fill-in basis when Darrell Johnson was fired last week, has been hired through the 1977 season. Zimmer got the good news via long distance telephone in the visitors dugout in Cleveland Monday night from Bosox general manager Dick O'Connell.

The Mets are going nowhere in the National League East and the Yankees look pennant-bound in the American League East. But the Mets outdrew the Yankees Monday night when both teams were in New York. The Mets' Jacket Day promotion drew 53,523 as they lost to the Expos, 5-4. The Yanks drew 22,245 to see them top the Tigers, 1-0.

New York Set San by Mayer knew exactly how to get under Ilie Nastase's skin Monday night, and it helped the Sets clinch the Worl Team Tennis Eastern Division title with a 29-20 win over the Hawaii Leis. Mayer took as much time as possible between serves and beat Nastase, 7-6 and 5-2 in the tiebreaker. The frustrated Nastase stalked off the court at the end of the match and refused to play in the men's doubles match, forcing Hawaii coach Butch Bucholtz to insert himself as a substitute. The Sets won the men's doubles.

Veteran defensive back George Hoey retired from the New York Jets Monday and seven players were cut, including RB James Richards, a seventh round draft pick out of the University of Florida, and punter Rick Faulk, a fifteenth round pick from San Francisco State. Free agents cut included WR Frank Brown, WR Marshall Mills, TE Anthony Hill, DB Gene Williams and OT John Chaney.

The union representing about 200 groundsman, watchmen, doormen and cleanup crews at Yankee Stadium says it will strike "at least one day this week" unless management abandons efforts to reduce the size of the stadium's fulltime off-season staff from 17 men to 12. Ohio State University Athletic Director Ed Weaver promised to "look into the matter" after hearing about a Michigan State University student newspaper's copyrighted story Monday accusing OSU alumni of paying to have prospective student-athletes taken to the campus...

Bizarre Busnap Notes Revealed

CHOWCHILLA, Calif. (UPI) — Documents found by investigators in the Chowchilla kidnap case contained bizarre references to Satan and a $5 million, unmet ransom note was signed "Beelsabub," it was reported.

"Beelsabub" was an apparent misspelling of Beelzebub, a New Testament name meaning "prince of the devils."

The Fresno, Calif., Bee said Monday that it was informed by investigators some documents contained "strange references to Satan" and others were coded in Sanskrit.

The documents were found on the 100-acre estate of the family of Fred N. Woods, 24, one of the three suspects in the July 15 kidnap of 26 school children and their bus driver here. The victims were placed in a truck van buried in a quarry owned by Woods' father near Livermore in Alameda County. They dug their way to freedom.

The other two suspects were James Schoenfeld, 24, and his brother, Richard, 22, both of Atherton, Calif. The younger Schoenfeld surrendered on July 23, while Woods was captured in Vancouver, B.C., last Thursday, and the older Schoenfeld was arrested in Menlo Park, Calif., the same day.

"Maybe one of them, or all three of them, were into the occult," one investigator said. "But occult or not, it had nothing to do with the kidnapping of those children and the fact the abductors wanted $5 million."

All three will appear in Justice Court here Wednesday. Woods and the older Schoenfeld will be arraigned on kidnap and robbery charges. All three will ask for a reduction in their $1 million bail.

The suspects were held in the Alameda County Jail in Oakland.

Madera County Sheriff Ed Bates, whose department covers this farm community in the San Joaquin Valley, said he expected a grand jury indictment against the three young men soon. This would eliminate a need for a preliminary hearing in Justice Court here and move the case directly into Superior Court at nearby Madera, the county seat.

In a related development Monday, Justice Court Judge Howard C. Green granted a defense request to extend a gag order sealing details of evidence found by investigators. The order was issued 10 days ago and was expected to remain in effect for at least another 10 days.

Frederick Newhall Woods IV, one of three suspects in custody for the mass kidnapping of 26 children and their school bus driver, was turned over to Alameda County officials after dismissal of a federal warrant for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. He was arrested in Vancouver, B.C., July 30.

Stassen Joins Race

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Harold Stassen, still striving for the GOP presidential nomination despite years of ridicule, is in the race once more, seeking a delegate support for "whatever" reasons.

Stassen, the 69-year old former Minnesota governor, announced his candidacy Monday, calling it a unity alternative to President Ford and Ronald Reagan.

"I am following through in my late announcement as a candidate in this unusual situation because I am confident that if nominated I could unite our Republican party and lead it to a November victory," the Philadelphia lawyer told a news conference.

Sporting a youthful-looking hairpiece, Stassen told reporters he was "serious" about his candidacy, though reconciled to the "ridicule and humor" that has attended similar announcements in the past.

Stassen first ran for president 24 years ago, and was a serious contender then and later in 1952, when he threw his support to the eventual winner, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

He conceded that it would require "a near miracle" for him to win the nomination this year.

But, Stassen said he was seeking uncommitted delegates and would set up a headquarters and caucus room for all who wanted an alternative at the Kansas City GOP convention.

Asked if he was at all concerned that his candidacy might provide a "haven" for supporters of either Ford or Reagan to keep one of the two major candidates from a winning majority on the first ballot, Stassen replied: "I welcome delegates on the first ballot whatever may be their reasons."

In a letter to GOP delegates, he said, "I am confident that if the admitted near-miracle occurs and I am nominated, I can unite our Republican party and unite the majority of the American people in November."

Viking Team Continues Probe

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — A special team of more than a dozen scientists worked today to see if results of biological tests conducted by the Viking lander on Mars can be explained by phenomena other than some form of life.

Other possibilities must be considered before scientists will be "driven" to accept the conclusion the reactions come from life forms, said Dr. Gilbert Levin, a member of the biology team.

The team was formed to determine what caused a surge of oxygen to occur in one investigation and unusual radioactivity to occur in another.

"There is a good deal of chemistry going on that we really don't understand," Gerald Soffen, chief project scientist, said. "I think it is very easy to read these (results) as life signs."

Data from two of three biology tests gave results the scientists said could have two sources: Some form of life, or a chemical reaction not common to Earth.

The first surprising result was an unusually high appearance of oxygen from a cubic centimeter of soil placed in a controlled atmosphere warmer and more humid than that of Mars. The oxygen was 15 times higher than was expected.

But the oxygen began to diminish faster than expected and that also was surprising.

The second puzzle was in the labeled release experiment in which micro-organisms, if any, would absorb carbon-14 from a nutrient and give off radioactive gases. It showed a high curve of radioactivity.

But the curve quickly leveled off and that, scientists said, was not characteristic of results from similar laboratory experiments.

"The most difficult imaginable explanation of any data that we get back from Mars is going to be that there is life there," Levin said. "Because life is the most complex peak of evolution that we have seen."

"Therefore, we must try every other possibility to explain the responses by physical means — by chemical means — before being absolutely driven, you might say, to the conclusion that we can only explain it by living reactions."

"If it is chemical, it took place at a very rapid rate initially and then, uncharacteristically, slowed down and took a long time to plateau," he said.

Biological responses, which start so rapidly, generally continue to evolve gas over a longer period of time.

"If it were biological, at least

Jean Adams TEEN FORUM

By Jean Adams, Ph.D.

MOTHERLESS: (Q.) My mom died when I was 10. I miss her a lot. I get into a lot of trouble now, because I feel that no one cares for me.

I've been going with this boy for about a month, and I like him a lot, but I don't know how to explain my family situation to him. — Handicapped in Pennsylvania

(A.) Talking with our friends about the things that worry us is often very comforting. And we can, in turn, help our friends to feel better by listening to them when they have problems of their own. This is sharing.

Share your bad news as well as your good news with your new friend. Tell him about your mother's death and about other events, good and bad, in your life.

Encourage him to share his joys and sorrows with you. People care for us when we care for them. They share with us when we share with them. They help us when we help them.

By caring, sharing and helping, you can overcome the burden of being without your mother. You will always miss her, but you will get over the wounded feeling you now have.

MISTREATMENT: (Q.) I'm going crazy. My sisters and brothers get together and tell me I'm ugly, immature and stupid. They tell me lies to get me in trouble. It makes me want to hurt myself. I've tried talking to my parents, but they don't do anything about it.

My father has very high blood pressure and my mother can't handle all six of my brothers and sisters alone. I just don't think I can hold out any longer. I really need your help. I am 14 and I don't want to be in an institution before I am an adult. — Tormented in Connecticut

(A.) Teamwork is important in any family, especially one as large as yours, and your family doesn't have it.

Urge your mother and father to start holding family meetings once a week. Every member of the family should attend and every member should be given the chance to be heard. Here differences can be settled calmly and reasonably, without the pressure felt during or right after a fight.

Your family needs these meetings not because your father is ill, but because this is a sensible way to handle family affairs. Family meetings give you the opportunity to be heard when you believe you have been treated cruelly or unfairly.

(Write to Dr. Jean Adams, care of his newspaper, P. O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Every letter is read, but because of the great number received, Dr. Adams cannot send personal replies.)

Aries (March 21-April 19): Bring in special consultants. Their complex maneuvers upset budgets temporarily, but it's worth it. Home life shows improving conditions.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): A conference with potential backers produces leads to future success. Proper maintenance puts a higher price tag on property.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): You have extra energy, but no efficient channel for it yet. Meditation invites intuitive guidance. This evening's fun company puts you in a good mood.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): What you do now has impact on the future. Stick to well-known methods. Health care is a good investment of time and money.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Conservative management takes center stage for you and close associates. Devote as much effort as you can to keeping matters on an even keel.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): By staying near home base, you can enlist cooperation among all ages. Social and romantic moves are well received.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): This is the time to improve routines and to install more effective equipment. Personal projects thrive. Use leisure time for intellectual hobbies and gardening.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Swing into action to nudge stalled plans. Ask the right question and cope with harsh answers. Old problems reach a crisis point but can be corrected.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Leadership comes to you casually. Overdo nothing and you have it made. Don't pass the buck. Overtime is okay once in a while.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): The less advertising you do, the better. Just go ahead with work you have lined up. Conditions are on the brink of further change.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You get all you want within reason by taking the initiative. Be specific. Push some competitive negotiation toward completion.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Keep your eye on business, and ignore comment. Career problems deserve a session with experts. Don't make drastic decisions.

Opening lead — ♣ A

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South let West hold the first trick with his queen of spades after East followed with the eight. West continued with the trex and East played the king.

South had a problem.

Assuming West had led from a six-card suit he could duck that second spade, take the third, play three rounds of diamonds and hope that East would have exactly three diamonds. South saw that that play would fail if spades were

5-4 and decided on another line.

He won the second spade and led back the 10. West won and could have beaten the hand by leading anything but a spade, but West was a firm believer in the principle that a trick in the hand is worth two on the table. He cashed his last two spades.

South chucked a heart and diamond while dummy shed

red cards. East chucked a heart.

Carter Sees GOP Attacking Him Personally

By UPI
Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter predicts that Republicans, "desperate" to keep control of the White House, will launch "an almost unprecedented, vicious personal attack" on the Democratic ticket.

Returning to New Hampshire where he won his first primary victory last February, Carter said Tuesday: "There is going to be an almost unprecedented, vicious personal attack on me, Sen. (Walter) Mondale, and other Democratic candidates."

"The Republicans are going to be desperate," he told a rally in Bedford. "The voters have learned about the absence of leadership, the suffering that we've experienced from the mistakes in foreign policy, from the mismanagement of the White House in dealing with our problems." Carter, who repeatedly has said he does not intend to use Watergate as an issue in the campaign, mentioned it in reciting his list of administration misbehavior.

"It's a very rare occasion ... when a candidate for president can learn directly from those who feel the adverse affect from an unfair tax law, inflation pressures, no energy policy, the problems of a foreign policy that makes us ashamed, the disgrace of Watergate, the embarrassment of the CIA revelations, the loss of the war in Vietnam."

Meanwhile in Washington,

Ford's campaign manager told reporters neither Ford nor Ronald Reagan will go to the Republican National Convention in Kansas City Aug. 16 with the GOP presidential nomination locked up.

"There's no lockup available," said Rogers Morton. Morton claimed Ford had 1,134 votes — four more than the number needed. His counterpart in the Reagan camp, John Sears, says his candidate has 1,140, or 10 more than needed.

UPI's count included the shift to uncommitted of a delegate in Maine that the wire service had by mistake put in the Ford column.

In the continuing shifting of delegates, Ford and Reagan each lost a supporter in South Carolina to the uncommitted column Tuesday and an uncommitted delegate in Pennsylvania said he now supports Ford.

Reagan begins a three-day delegate hunt today in four critical states — Mississippi, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and West Virginia. The trip starts in Mississippi, whose 30-member delegation was once strongly behind him, but is now almost evenly divided.

Oilman Held for Murder

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — The bloodstained blonde in the long skirt and halter top ran from the plush 140-acre estate. She screamed a man was "killing everybody up at the house."

Police called to the mansion owned by millionaire oil executive Cullen Davis found the body of Davis' stepdaughter, 12-year-old Andrea, slumped face down in the basement. She had been shot to death.

Davis' estranged wife Priscilla, 35, who ran to a neighbor's house to get help, was wounded in the abdomen. The boyfriend of a family friend was found wounded in front of the house.

Davis was arrested a few hours later and charged with murder and attempted murder.

Davis, 40, was being held in Dallas County for "medical observation" in lieu of $80,000 bail. Five pistols were confiscated at the time of his arrest.

Officials said the Davis' were involved in a stormy divorce suit and Monday had made another Domestic Relations Court appearance in the two-year-old case.

Farr, a local tavern owner, Mrs. Davis and her daughter were living in the two-story estate mansion at the time of the shooting. She had been separated from her husband for more than two years.

Homicide Capt. J.W. Tindall said police were first called to the estate by Beverly Bass, 18. Tindall said Miss Bass and her boyfriend, Gus "Bubba" Gravel, 21, had driven up to the mansion as a man emerged from the house carrying a black plastic bag.

She said her boyfriend recognized the man.

"What's happening? Where is everybody?" she said Gravel asked.

"Come and I'll show you," she said the man answered.

Miss Bass said the man pulled a gun, shot Gravel in the chest and chased her. She said she flagged down a passing motorist and called police at a drive-in food store.

While the man apparently was chasing Miss Bass, Mrs. Davis, who already had been shot, ran from the home to the residence of Clifford Jones, who called police.

Jones said Mrs. Davis cried that a man "was killing everybody up at the house." He said, "She called him by name. She said he was killing her kids."

Davis is heir to a multimillion-dollar oil fortune built by his father, Ken Davis. He is head of Stratoflex, Inc., an oil supply firm.

Harris Jury Is Still Out

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sequestered jurors in the trial of William and Emily Harris enter their fifth day of deliberations today while two women who talked of possible juror prejudice accused the judge of maligning them to protect himself.

The seven-woman, five-man jury had deliberated 23 hours and 10 minutes since last Friday in the trial of the Symbionese Liberation Army couple, accused of 11 counts of kidnap, robbery and assault.

The charges against the Harrises, accused abductors of newspaper heiress and convicted bank robber Patricia Hearst, stem from a May, 1974, incident at an Inglewood, Calif., sporting goods store in which Miss Hearst opened fire with an automatic carbine to rescue them from arrest.

Two prospective jurors, not chosen for the final panel, have charged that juror Ronald Pruyne made prejudiced remarks before being impaneled and that Superior Court Mark Brandler knew of the remarks, but did nothing.

Tuesday the women said Brandler was now attacking their credibility to protect himself.

Jeannie Barton, who testified that Pruyne talked about a "foregone conclusion" in the verdict, criticized Brandler for saying her credibility was doubtful because she did not report the incident for some weeks.

The Hazy Days of Summer

With summer temperatures still on the rise, a young couple find a romantic way to beat the heat by taking a hand holding walk on the bank of the Scioto River near Columbus, O.

Car Thefts On Increase

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (UPI) — Leaving a car unattended in Boston, a Massachusetts legislator says, is like "throwing out bread for the birds."

Boston had the highest auto theft rate in the nation in 1975 with 1,639 thefts per 100,000 people. But thefts were up elsewhere, an aggregate 16 per cent, according to the National Automobile Theft Bureau, an insurance company-supported organization.

The upswing in the theft of cars, parts and accessories, amounted to a $76 million payout in 1975 for State Farm Mutual, the nation's largest car insurer. The figure represented a 59 per cent increase over 1974.

Part of the increase, $7.5 million, was attributed to theft of popular Citizens Band radios. Consequently, State Farm said, a number of auto insurance companies are seeking state approval to exclude CBs from regular coverage, meaning additional premiums.

"Motorists could discourage thieves, especially amateurs by always locking their car and taking the keys," said John C. Harper, a State Farm claims executive.

Harper, a member of the NTAB governing body, said the FBI estimates 17 per cent of the cars stolen in 1975 were left open and had the keys in them.

"Nearly 60 per cent of all thefts occur from private residences or in streets in residential areas," said

Harper. "One thing this tell us is that people are lax about locking their car when it's at home or outside a friend's house. Keys are frequently left in ignitions when a person parks on the street for a quick errand."

Besides keeping your car locked, Harper suggested as an additional caution not to leave it on a dark, deserted street or with costly items easily visible. He rated parking in lots where the keys must be left with the car or in unattended public areas as poor risks.

The chance of theft is greater if the car is in high demand — a luxury or sports model, or a foreign make.

"That risk is even greater if it's routinely left in the same public place — while the owner's at work, for example," Harper said. "It would be preferable not to leave a car unattended for prolonged periods but if it's necessary to do so, the owner can reduce the chance of theft by changing the parking location regularly."

Harper said the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has proposed a federal standard that would require more theft-proof equipment on new cars. These include stronger door and ignition locks, hood and trunk locks that operated only from inside the vehicle, and a system that would make it impossible to leave the key inside the ignition.

It is not certain which, if any, requirements will be adopted.

Tiny Horse Resembles Maned Cat

INMAN, S.C. (UPI) — How do you describe a horse who stands all of 14 inches high and is called Little Pumpkin?

"It looks like a cat with a bushy tail and a long mane on it," said J.C. Williams Monday. He should know, he owns Little Pumpkin.

"I thought I had the smallest one in the world until I found Little Pumpkin, and then I had to buy it to save face," said Williams, a breeder of miniature horses.

"We don't know how small we can get, we may even get back to the prehistoric horse which was 12 inches when fully grown," he said.

Williams wouldn't say where he found the three-year-old Pumpkin, only that it "was a long ways away."

He said the newest addition to his farm has already made itself at home.

"We keep it tied in the yard and it follows you around like a little puppy," he said. "This little thing walks around the pasture and the other horses look down on it."

Williams said the only risk with breeding small horses occurs at birth.

"We had one born eight inches and one 11 but they both died," he said. "It's hard to keep them alive that small."

NOTICE OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT ON THE ENVIRONMENT

Date of Publication August 4, 1976

City of Kingston
Meadow Street
Kingston, New York 12401

TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS:

The above named City proposes to request the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to release federal funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (P.L. 93-383) to be used for the following project: Public Housing Modernization

To replace the existing boilers, which are over 24 years old, in Colonial Gardens N.Y.S. 45, a nine unit apartment building, owned and operated by the Kingston Housing Authority, with two new boilers so as to provide safer and more efficient heat for the tenants, and conservation of energy.

This project is consistent with the City's objectives of improving housing conditions for Kingston's low and lower income residents.

Colonial Gardens is located on Colonial Drive off Flatbush Avenue in the city's northeast section.

The cost of this program of modernization is $75,000 and includes two new oil-fired boilers, the installation and removal of the existing boilers, and professional engineering design fees. This project will take place within the City boundaries of Kingston, Ulster County, New York.

It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and, accordingly, the above named City has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (P.L. 91-190). The reasons for such decision not to prepare such statement are:

1. None of the properties listed or eligible to be listed on the Federal Register of Historic Places will be adversely affected on any way by this project.

2. The project will comply with all regional and state land use plans.

3. No Federal, State, or local standard or regulation will be violated by the project.

An Environmental Review Record respecting the aforementioned project has been made by the above named City which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the City of Kingston, New York, and is available for public examination and copying upon request, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. through Friday.

No further environmental review of the aforementioned project is proposed to be conducted prior to the request for release of federal funds. All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the City to Mr. Ralph Marallo, Director, Office of Community Development, 97 Broadway, Kingston, New York 12401. Such written comments should be received at the above address on or before August 26, 1976. All such comments to be received will be considered and the City will not request the release of funds prior to the date specified in the preceding sentence.

Jean Adams TEEN FORUM

By Jean Adams, Ph.D.

PG MOVIES: (Q.) I like to go to good movies, but my parents won't let me go to PG movies, and G movies hardly ever come here.

I'm a pretty fair judge of good and bad movies, but if a movie is good and rated PG, I absolutely cannot go. I asked recently to see one, and they said no. I asked if they had seen it, and they hadn't.

I think it is good for me to go out with friends and have fun once in a while. I am 13 and a girl. Please help me. — Bored in Oklahoma (A.) The letters I get and the teens I talk with assure me that most 13-year-olds are permitted by parents to see PG movies. The parents may object to some PG films, but not to all of them.

Under the present rating system, any movie fan has a hard time finding G movies, so your complaint that "G movies hardly come here" is valid. If your family, church and school have done their work properly, you should be able to judge pretty well whether a movie is "good" or "bad."

Movies are good social outlets for 13-year-olds. Friends can meet at a movie and make a social occasion out of it. Though this should not be their ONLY diversion, movie-going should be considered a part of the social life of teens.

Because today there are so many dangers and so many possible restrictions on young teen-agers, parents should be careful not to be TOO restrictive.

Discuss with your parents the different points presented in this answer.

LIP HAIR: (Q.) I am so ugly I could die. I have a mustache on top of my lip. It is not that big, but I hate it. Everybody probably hates me. Please give me some good advice. I really can use it. — 13 in Texas

(A.) First of all, quit thinking that everybody hates you. That isn't so. Secondly, get rid of the mustache. If you are a boy, shave it off; if you are a girl, go to an electrolysis expert.

A teen should take steps to get rid of any handicap, hindrance or blemish that makes him or her feel insecure. If getting rid of your mustache isn't possible, play it down by playing up other good features.

(Write to Dr. Jean Adams, care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Every letter is read, but because of the great number received, Dr. Adams cannot send personal replies.)

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

THURSDAY, AUGUST 5

Your birthday today: This year you learn how to relax and enjoy yourself. Material prosperity takes care of itself once you're on the right track and adopt routines that are suitable to your situation. Relationships intensify on a subtle psychological level. Today's natives are good at advertising and publicity have a keen sense of color and texture.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Without much notice you're burdened with extra detail that others shirk or miss. Get busy, don't complain and be sure the record makes clear how the job got thrown into your lap.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Conviviality exists among long-time associates, but proceed with caution. You enjoy a new lift in work routine. You have a rare chance to rest at home.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Try new methods at work. If people are giving you a bad time, look for ways you brought it on yourself. Resolve to do better.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Although you'd rather loaf, the work has to get done, so be tactful with associates, and get on with it. Legal activities and formal claims are favored.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): A splendid opportunity involves both financial gain and education. Just avoid speculative deals. You can't collect on anything you yourself didn't develop.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Regardless of how simple your plans, rushing spoils them. Don't provoke resistance by making critical remarks. Listen to your intuition.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Well-kept secrets come out into the open. Keep your cool; don't show concern. Home arrangements spark an original idea and new plans.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): The urge to expand your activities leads you far afield into unfamiliar areas. Correspondence with distant colleagues and friends turns up information.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Don't expect to get everything you want. If you realize this, you have a better chance of putting your ideas to work.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Don't let a wish for privacy stampede you into flimsy deals. The doings of friends send useful knowledge your way.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your emotions are easily stirred; steer them toward the positive side. Speak candidly in the right places. Relations survive a crisis favorably.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Creative approaches pay off. You're due for novel twists in work and play. Think of romance in terms of the future; answers may be different.

Congressman Dies on Day of His Upset Victory

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Rep. Jerry Litton scored the political upset of the year in Missouri, but he died tragically in a plane crash without ever learning of his victory.

Litton's plane crashed Tuesday shortly after takeoff for a party among supporters in Kansas City.

Killed in the crash with Litton, 39, were his wife Sharon and their two children, a son, Scott Stuart, 12, and a daughter, Linda Lorraine, 13. Their deaths near Litton's hometown of Chillicothe cast a pall over one of the largest voter turnouts in the history of Missouri's party primaries. Litton had defeated Rep. James W. Symington, D-Mo., son of retiring Sen. Stuart Symington, and former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes for the Democratic nomination for senator. Litton, a farmer, started the race with little name identification outside of rural Missouri, but his weekly statewide television show "Dialogue with Litton" gained him voter support.

On election night his campaign rolled up nearly 45 per cent of the vote in a 12-candidate race, and Symington and Hearnes split most of the leftovers.

"Jerry's parents and Sharon's parents were at the party at the Plaza Hilton," said Carolyn Ashford, an aide from his Washington office. "We got a call that he had left Chillicothe so we could come to the airport and pick him up. Then there was a call that the plane didn't come, and then there was an eyewitness..."

"We announced it to the staff about 11 o'clock. It was just shock, disbelief. They were all volunteers who had worked very, very hard for the last seven months. No one could comprehend it because we had all seen him so recently."

The crash came only hours before the first substantial returns showing Litton taking a commanding lead in the race. Election officials had predicted a 1.25 million voter turnout, enough to break a 40-year primary record, and the returns approached the prediction.

Under state law, the Democratic state committee must choose a replacement for a deceased nominee. But the runners-up in the primary, in deference to the Litton tragedy, would not discuss the possibilities.

Child Killed in Explosion

GRAND ISLAND, N.Y. (UPI) — A child was killed and four other persons were injured early today in an explosion and fire at a campsite on the outskirts of Grand Island, N.Y., police reported.

The five vacationers from Canada, were in a tent camper when the explosion occurred shortly after midnight. Police said it was either cooking gas or lantern fuel that exploded.

The names of the travelers and most other details of the incident are being withheld until relatives in Canada have been notified. Police would say only that the persons involved are a man, his wife, their two children and an adult friend.

The survivors are in Kenmore Mercy Hospital in Tonawanda, N.Y. No report on their condition was immediately available.

Funds of A Token Dealer Are Frozen

NEW YORK (UPI) — Authorities are moving today to freeze the bank accounts of a man who allegedly offered New York subway tokens at a 40 per cent discount and fled to Costa Rica without filing orders.

A spokesman for State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz said Tuesday that Kenneth Lloyd Roberts, president and sole officer of the Lloyd Foundation, "purchased more than $84,000 worth of 50-cent subway tokens and advertised he was selling them for 30 cents."

Roberts, 26, of Manhattan, "began filling orders and then our office began to be inundated with complaints that he wasn't filling the orders," the spokesman said.

At Lefkowitz's request, the Chancery Division of Superior Court in Jersey City, N.J., issued a temporary restraining order forbidding the Hoboken (N.J.) branch of the Garden State National Bank to disburse any Lloyd Foundation funds.

The spokesman said Roberts had $51,440 in the Hoboken bank.

"We have no estimate of how much he may have had in four New York City banks" — European-American, National of North America, Chemical and Chase Manhattan, he added.
